APPROPRIATION BILLSenate and House Conferees
Compromise on Amounts
First Adopted

IMPROVES HOUSE MEASURE

AS a whole the appropriations for the National Guard and the Organized Reserves as agreed to in the joint conference committee were compromised between the amounts passed by the House and those adopted in the Senate. If there is any difference the Senate won in the contest between the two houses on these items.

The Senate was almost as successful in securing increases for the Regular Establishment, and the bill was a better measure when it came from the conferees than it was when it passed the House.

The National Guard was allotted $2,350,000 for forage and compensation for help for the care of animals instead of $2,250,000 which was allotted by the House. For transportation of equipment, the Senate won in appropriation, $415,000 being allowed. The amendments of the Senate which would place all funds appropriated for arming, equipping and training the National Guard in one fund was stricken out. The appropriation for arms, and uniforms for National Guard while in the field was agreed to at $2,850,000 a compromise between the House allowance of $2,700,000 and the Senate at $3,000,000.

The conferees agreed to an even $2,000,000 for the pay and allowances of Reserve officers on active duty not exceeding fifteen days which was a compromise between the House appropriation of $1,638,600 and the Senate item of $2,457,900. For active service in excess of fifteen days, the amount agreed to was $397,660 as compared with the House appropriation of $335,594 and the Senate of $476,000. The mileage allowance was fixed by the conferees for Reserve officers at $2,798,122 as compared with $2,374,660 by the House and $3,334,336 by the Senate.

At the War Department, it is estimated that with $2,000,000 available for fifteen-day training, 14,750 Reserve officers can be sent to the camps this year. This is an increase of 2,750 over the bill as it passed the house which provided for a fifteen-day period for 12,000 officers.

ORGANIZED RESERVES

On the appropriations for headquarters and camps of Organized Reserves the Senate receded to the House appropriation of $400,000, of which $100,000 may be used for the establishment and maintenance of divisional and regimental headquarters. The House and Senate had increased the first item to $500,000 and the latter to $150,000. For military training camps, the amount of $2,330,000 passed by the Senate was adopted by the conferees as compared with the House of $2,100,000. The Senate appropriation of $226,000 for the office of the Secretary of War was agreed to, as was the contingent fund of $109,810 recommended by the Senate.

The Senate receded in its amendment striking out the limitation of $100 per day for auctioneers on government surplus property. The appropriation of $87,800 for military post exchanges passed by the Senate was agreed to, as was the increase

NEW CHIEF FOR BUREAU OF NAVIGATION

OF absorbing interest throughout the Navy was the unexpected announcement of the Secretary, that Rear Adm. William R. Shoemaker will relieve Rear Adm. Andrew T. Long as Chief of the Bureau of Navigation on June 1. It is stated that Adm. Long, at his own request, was transferred to the General Board. Adm. Shoemaker has been on duty in the Bureau of Navigation. Capt. John R. Y. Blakeley, it is stated, has declined the offer of the Secretary for the place of Assistant Chief of Bureau of Navigation to succeed Capt. Leigh when the latter goes to the Naval War College. The relief of Capt. Leigh has not been selected, and on that account Capt. Leigh will remain on duty as Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Navigation until the middle of July.

BILL DEPRIVES SERVICE ACADEMY
INSTRUCTORS OF LONGEVITY PAY

BY E. B. JOHNS, Washington Correspondent

IN an effort to invalidate the Noce decision giving longevity credit for cadet and midshipmen service, Congress has virtually made it impossible for the War Department to assign 1,200 officers of the Army to the Military Academy.

The same amendment of the Naval Appropriation bill would deprive the Naval Academy of the services in any capacity of something like 2,000 of the younger officers now in the Service. Unless the amendment is repealed a large part of the faculty of both academies will probably be relieved.

An examination of the amendments to the Army and to the Naval Appropriation bill will show that the Comptroller General would not give longevity credit to any officer who graduated after 1913 for time that they are on duty at the Military or Naval Academies. In the amendments, which are identical, it is provided:

"That, in computing for any purpose the length of service of any officer of the Navy, of the Marine Corps, of the Coast Guard, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey or of the Public Health Service, who was appointed to the United States Naval Academy or to the United States Military Academy after March 4, 1913, the time spent at either Academy shall not be counted."

DIRE POSSIBILITIES OF ACT

It will be observed that there is no specification as to in what capacity an officer of either the Army or Navy was serving or will be serving in the future at the Academies. In plain language the amendment set forth "that time spent at either Academy shall not be counted."

It is apparent that the officers cannot be expected to serve at the Academies without being given longevity credit. If this principle is applied to the Academies naturally there will be a demand to extend it to all schools and the educational system of both the Army and Navy will be broken down.

It is extremely unfortunate that the members of the classes affected by the Noce decision should be discriminated against in this matter. A large percentage of them in both the Army and Navy saw active service in the World War. Especially is this true of the West Point classes which were graduated in 1917.

The class of 1917, which graduated from West Point April 20, 1917, was in the Service fourteen days after the outbreak of the war. The leaves of absence of its members were cut short and many of them found themselves with the 1st Division, sailing for France at a time when they would have been graduating under peace conditions. The class of 1918 came out of the Academy on Aug. 30, 1917, and the battle casualties of these two classes exceed any other group of officers or enlisted men.

WAR-TIME CLASS RECORDS

Six members of the class and three former members, a total of nine, or 6.5 per cent. of the 1917 class were killed in action. The first West Point graduate to be killed in the World War was Capt. S. W. Hoover of the 1917 class. One of the first officers to be killed in the war was Capt. Mosher, a former member of the class. One member of the class was killed in an airplane accident and one died of hardships suffered in France, making a total of eleven deaths, or 8 per cent. of the class enrollment.

Fourteen members of the class were wounded in action, making a total of twenty-five casualties overseas, this being 31 per cent. of those who served overseas, or 18 per cent. for the total enrollment. The percentage of graduates of the class of 1917 killed in action is four times as large as the percentage of all officers of the Army killed in action or died from wounds. The percentage of graduates of the class of 1917 awarded Distinguished Service Crosses is twice as large as the percentage of the officers of the entire Army who were awarded this distinction.

The record of the class of 1918 compares favorably with that of 1917 and made as great service as any group of officers. Of the 148 graduates of this class 111 served overseas prior to the signing of the Armistice. Ten of the class were killed in action or died of wounds received in action, and two died as a result of exposure in campaign, a total of twelve deaths, this being 10.8 per cent. of those who served overseas. Ten members of the class were wounded in action, making a total of twenty-two casualties overseas. This brings the percentage of casualties of those who served overseas up to 19.8, or 14.8 of the entire class.

While the percentage of all of the officers in the entire Army who were killed in action or died of wounds was 1.065, the percentage of the class of 1918 was 6.8, or six and a half times larger than of the entire Army. The percentage of the class of 1918 awarded the Distinguished Service Cross was 6.75, or nine and two-thirds times as large as the percentage of officers of the entire Army.

Both of these amendments, which have been attached to the Army and Navy appropriations, have gotten there by questionable methods. In the House they were put on the bills after they come out of the committee without any hearing and without due consideration. They were considered in the Senate in secret session and no opportunity was given for a hearing to the officers that are affected. It is evidently a piece of hasty legislation with serious consequences. Congress is attempting to legislate on a subject which is before the Supreme Court and as a consequence it has created a situation which may result in another suit in the courts.

NAVAL RESERVE BILL
REPORTED BY SENATECommittee Is Undecided on Retainer Pay for the Enlisted Man

TRANSFER FLEET RESERVE

SENATOR ODDIE was authorized by the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs on May 27 to report favorably the bill (S. 1807) introduced by Mr. Hale for the creation and organization of a Naval and Marine Corps Reserve. This is the bill which was framed at numerous conferences between the Navy Department and representatives of the Naval Reserve officers.

There is one provision on which the committee is still undecided, and that is the one which provides retainer pay for enlisted men in the Navy who, after twenty years' service, pass to the Naval Reserve. As the bill now stands this class of Reservists are given one-third of their active pay, while it is possible that this amount will be increased to one-half.

The bill transfers all of Class 1, 2 and 6 of the Fleet Naval Reserves to the Naval Reserve. The Naval Reserve Flying Corps is also transferred to the Naval Reserve. The Naval Auxiliary Class 3 is transferred to the Merchant Marine Service. The members of the Naval Reserve Force are transferred to the Volunteer Naval Reserve.

The bill abolishes retainer pay for the old Class 2 and gives instead drill pay and training duty pay, the same as the National Guard.

All of Class 1c and 1d men of the Regular Navy with sixteen and twenty years' service retain their present pay. Also men in the Navy now who would be entitled to the privileges of these provisions under the present law can pass to the Reserve on the same status as if the old law were not repealed. In no way does the bill deprive any man in the Regular Navy or in the Reserve of their present rights.

REVISED ITINERARY FOR MIDSHIPMEN'S CRUISE

THE revised itinerary of the cruise of the midshipmen's practice squadron, consisting of the Wyoming, Arkansas, New York and Texas, was announced by the Navy Department on May 22 to be as follows:

Leave Annapolis June 5 for thirteen days at sea, covering a distance of 3,400 miles. Arrive at Tor Bay June 18, leave June 25; arrive Brest June 26, leave July 7. The Wyoming and Arkansas then go to Rotterdam, where they are due July 14, and the New York and Texas go to Antwerp, where they are also due July 14.

All four vessels will leave their last-named ports July 25 and come together at Gibraltar, where they are due July 31. They will leave Aug. 4 and are due to arrive at Ponta Delgada Aug. 8, leave Aug. 9, and arrive at Lynnhaven Bay for target practice Aug. 18, leave Aug. 27 for Annapolis, where the squadron is due Aug. 28, after a cruise of forty-one days at sea and forty-three days in port, and covering a total distance of 10,260 miles.

CRACK NAVY PILOTS PROMISE BIG PROGRAM

"Dog Fight" Between Speed Kings Will Be Star Act at Lakehurst Field

MARINE FLYERS FEATURE

A "DOG FIGHT" in the air between the two speed kings of naval aviation will feature the great aerial demonstration to be held at the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N.J., to-day. The crack Navy flyers and a Marine Corps plane squadron in later maneuvers promise spectators plenty of action.

The so-called "dog fight," in air parlance, is a mimic combat between two fighting planes which has in it all the elements of realism barring the denouement of a fatal ending.

The highest order of skill will be displayed by the two pilots who participate in the event. They are Lts. A. J. Williams, U.S.N., present holder of the world's speed record for landplanes and winner of the last Pulitzer race, who attained the almost phenomenal speed of 266 miles per hour, and David Rittenhouse, U.S.N., world's record holder for seaplanes and winner of the Schneider Cup Trophy for high-speed seaplanes in England last September.

The pilots will put on another interesting event when they compete in a bubble-chasing contest. They will dive at toy balloons released from the ground and endeavor to destroy them with the whirling propellers of their planes.

Marine Corps planes flying in formation will operate with ground troops in the aerial demonstration to be held at the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N.J., on May 31, when a simulated attack will be made on machine gun nests by airplanes and ground forces reminiscent of the Devil Dogs of Chateau-Thierry.

A squadron of light bombing planes from the 1st Aviation Group, U.S. Marine Corps, stationed at Quantico, Va., will be sent to Lakehurst for participation in the demonstration. The planes will be equipped with light bombs, which they will rain on the machine gun nests in preparation for the attack by ground troops. The Marine plane squadron will be commanded by Maj. R. S. Seiger, U.S.M.C.

NORTH CAROLINA HAS COAST ART. REGIMENT

THE North Carolina National Guard now has a six-company Coast Artillery regiment, known as the 252d Coast Artillery Regiment. It is made up as follows:

Headquarters Battery, Wilmington; Battery A, Wilmington (formerly 421st Co.); B, Limberton; C, Greensboro (formerly 422d Co.); D, Greensboro, and E, High Point.

Batteries D and E were recently Federally recognized. The regiment will be commanded by Lt. Col. J. S. McClelland, who commanded the 41st Company, when it was reorganized after the World War, and who has served as major commanding the Coast Artillery for the past two years.

C.M.T.C. SEEK OFFICERS' MILITARY "MANTLEMEN"

"MANTLEMEN" will be in vogue this summer at all C.M.T.C. camps as a result of a new plan sponsored by the Reserve officers of the 3d Corps Area and adopted to date by President Coolidge, Gen. John J. Pershing, Maj. Gens. Charles H. Muir, commander 3d Corps Area, and Frank W. Coe, Chief of Coast Artillery, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Martin, General Staff, and many other distinguished officers.

The "mantlemen" will be youths selected by officers as their successors upon whom the safety and defense of the nation will devolve when the present generation passes its responsibility to the next. The "mantle" referred to is the mantle of military obligation.

The plan sponsors suggest the selection by each individual officer in the Regular Army, National Guard or Reserves of a representative in the C.M.T.C., the choice to be made from the officer's immediate family if possible. Those who have not sons, younger brothers or relatives available may designate the son of a near friend or a boy he knows deserving of the honor.

According to Col. Oliver H. Dockery, jr., Inf., officer in charge of C.M.T.C. affairs at Baltimore, Md., an ardent supporter of the project, the application blanks sent in by officers for their "military godsons" will receive preference as to existing vacancies in the camps.

The officers who select "mantlemen," his statement asserts, are not performing a recruiting expediency, but are engaged in a patriotic purpose which will secure men trained for national defense from the eager, youthful material sent to the camps.

FT. MISSOULA RIFLEMEN WIN WESTERN TOURNEY

UNDER the auspices of the Fort Missoula Rod and Gun Club, and with the sanction and assistance of headquarters, Fort Missoula, the first annual Western Montana Rifle Tournament was successfully conducted May 17 and 18 on the Army range at the Montana post. Seven teams from western Montana and one team from Idaho competed in the team events, while forty-seven contestants entered in the individual matches. Beautiful silver cups as trophies for first prizes were presented by the merchants of Missoula.

The big event, the Western Montana Team Match, was won by the Fort Missoula team, consisting of Sergt. E. M. Johnson, Sergt. M. L. Kiley, Sergt. John Carlson, Corp. John Julius, Pvt. George Henderson and Pvt. Joe Falker, all of the 1st Battalion, 4th Infantry. This team also captured the silver cup awarded for first place in the Zachary Taylor Long Range Match, which was fired over the 1,000-yard course. Sergt. Kiley, Co. B, 4th Inf., won the individual high score cup.

Teams representing the following were present at the catches: Rocky Mountain Rifle Club, Butte, two teams; U.S. Forest Service, one team; Whitefish, Mont., one team; Fort Missoula, two teams; Corvallis, Mont., one team; Wallace, Idaho, one team.

The officers of the tournament were as follows: Capt. Walter S. Wood, executive officer; Lt. Norman C. Caum, secretary; Lt. F. M. Alexander, chief range officer; Lt. H. G. Sydenham, statistical officer.

NAT. GUARD OFFICERS AT BENNING EXERCISES

AUTHORITY was granted by the War Department for the attendance of seven National Guard Infantry officers at the field exercises of the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., from May 17 to May 26, inclusive.

The following were the officers present: Lt. Col. Benjamin T. Watkins, Ga. (122d Inf.); Maj. Lucien S. Sanders, Miss. (155th Inf.); Philip S. Pugh, La. (156th Inf.); Felton A. Whitaker, William L. Barwell, John G. C. Bloodworth and Gerald P. O'Keefe, Georgia.

NAT. GUARD STRENGTH SHOWS GAIN IN APRIL

THE Militia Bureau of the War Department are gratified over the grand total of 165,180 officers and men enrolled in the National Guard as of April 30, 1924, which is exclusive of the several hundred in the National Guard Reserve. Including the Guard Reserve, the aggregate figure would be close to 166,000, which is the greatest strength the Guard has reached since 1917. The first five states having the greatest enrollment are as follows: New York, 19,775; Pennsylvania, 11,382; Massachusetts, 9,192; Ohio, 8,020; Illinois, 7,829.

It is estimated by the Militia Bureau that up to the present time for the month of May 100 per cent. more National Guard units have been granted Federal recognition than heretofore during a month. From twenty to twenty-five units are usually given Federal recognition in an average month, but as of May 21 over fifty units throughout the Guard have been federalized.

MIDSHIPMEN

U.S.N.A., ANNAPOLIS, Md.

WITH the graduating class busily preparing for its entry into commissioned ranks or its exodus to civil life, the underclasses are engaged in extensive preparation for the cruise. The present Second, Third and Fourth Classes, will embark as the new First, Second and Third Classes on June 5, on the U.S.S. Wyoming, Arkansas, New York and Texas. The Practice Squadron will leave Annapolis for Tor Bay the same day.

THE Second Class baptized their class rings on Wednesday with the customary immersion in Dewey Basin. The 1925 class ring features a facsimile of Tecumseh, a former ship's figurehead now mounted on a pedestal in front of Bancroft Hall. For many years Tecumseh has been known as "The God of wooden midshipmen," that is, midshipmen who are weak in academic work. As the '25 class numerals correspond to the academic passing mark, he was incorporated in the '25 seal.

THE Second Class won the Harvard Shield in inter-class championship athletic activities by taking the track title. Lt. L. Henifin, U.S.N., as instructor in the electrical engineering department at the Academy, coached the winning team.

FOLLOWING the four Army-Navy clashes to-day, in which the Navy hopes for a clean sweep, the graduates of the Academy will attend a dinner that opens the evening social activities for June Week. Many prominent graduates, including Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of War John W. Weeks and Adm. Coontz, C-in-C. of the United States Fleet, are expected to attend. Adm. Coontz left the West coast last week to be present.

COMPETITIVE battalion drills will be held on Monday and Tuesday on Worden Field. The company which has secured the most points in inter-company competition in drills, sports and activities, will receive the colors on Monday evening at dress parade.

SPECIAL arrangements were made by midshipmen to entertain their friendly rivals, the West Point cadets, about a hundred of whom have come down for the contests. Every effort is being made to equal the hospitality which the Navy teams received at the Military Academy last year.

THE demand for tickets indicates that large representations of rooters for both Services will arrive from Washington, Baltimore and further points to attend the various meets.

THE garden party for the graduating class will be held at the Superintendent's house on Monday evening.

THE CAVALRY SCHOOL

FORT RILEY, KAS.

MAJ. GEN. W. A. HOLBROOK, the Chief of Cavalry, spent a few days at the post recently inspecting the activities of the Cavalry School.

BY invitation of the Fort Leavenworth Polo Club, the Cavalry School polo team made a trip to Fort Leavenworth to play two games on May 16 and 18.

The teams lined up as follows: Cavalry School—No. 1, Capt. Gerhardt; No. 2, Maj. Chandler; No. 3, Maj. Brown; back, Maj. Erwin; sub., Capt. Smith.

Fort Leavenworth—No. 1, Capt. Wilkinson; No. 2, Maj. Swift; No. 3, Maj. Patton; back, Capt. Huthstainer; sub., Maj. Hoyle.

Referee, Col. Lewis Brown. The first game was very closely contested, an extra period being necessary to decide it. Fort Leavenworth winning it by a score of 10-9. The game on Sunday was played before a very large crowd and was a triumph for the Cavalry School team work. Leavenworth did not score until the fifth period, the final score being Cavalry School, 14; Fort Leavenworth, 2.

CO. A, 9th Engrs. (Mounted), has been engaged in halting the encroachment of the Republican river on the reservation. Near Milford Gate, jetties have been constructed of heavy brush mats. These jetties have effectively diverted the current, caused sand bars to form and have stopped the washing out of the county road at that point. At present, experiments are being made with heavy steel jetties. These are being constructed from old steel rails taken from abandoned railroad tracks at Camp Funston. They are being placed near the pump house polo field. Here continued washing for several years has gradually cut away the bank and, if not stopped, will eventually undercut the polo field until the river is up against Sherman Heights.

CORPS OF CADETS

U.S.M.A., WEST POINT, N.Y...

ON June 12 the class of 1924 will have completed their four years at the Academy. They are a large class, numbering 406 at graduation—the largest class ever completing the course. When they leave they take with them one-third of the corps, including many who have contributed much to the welfare of the corps. The corps receives a new increment when the class of 1928 enters in July. It is estimated that they will number about 425.

THE War Department has authorized the continuance of the old parade instead of the mass formation used during the fall and early spring.

THE 1924 Howitzers were delivered during the week May 26 to 31. It is a splendid book, handsomely designed, cleverly arranged and excellently executed. The class may well be proud of their book.

NAVY NOTES

THE Navy Department has approved the following itinerary for the Pittsburgh: Arrive Cadiz May 7, leave May 12; arrive Pauillac May 15, leave May 22; arrive Brest May 23, leave May 31; arrive Gravesend June 1, leave June 10; arrive Cardiff June 11, leave June 21; arrive Cherbourg June 22, leave July 7; arrive Le Havre July 7, leave July 25.

DESTROYER DIVISION 39, consisting of the Parrott, Edsall, MacLeish, Simpson, Bulmer and McCormick, will soon return to the United States after having completed two years of interesting and highly useful service in the waters of Europe and the Near East. These six ships have been in foreign waters without repairs involving assistance from shore facilities for two years. Their material condition is excellent and they have demonstrated their ability to remain abroad for a long time as self-sustaining units.

DISPATCHES received from the commander-in-chief, Asiatic Fleet, May 8, announce that Lt. (j.g.) John P. Bowling has been detached from U.S.S. Sicard, to treatment, Naval Hospital, Canacao, P.I. Ensign Wilbur A. Wiedman, detached U.S.S. Smith Thomson goes to U.S.S. Sicard. Ensign David W. Roberts, detached U.S.S. Preble, goes to the attaché at Tokio, Japan. Gun. John B. Renner has been ordered from the U.S.S. Huron and goes to the receiving ship, San Francisco, Calif.

NAVY NURSE CORPS

THE following are recent transfers: Annie A. Wayland, chief nurse, to Naval Dispensary, Annapolis, Md.; Ethelyn S. Everman, Reserve nurse, to Naval Hospital, League Island, Pa.; Frances V. P. Haines, nurse, to Naval Hospital, Washington, D.C.; Ada Pearl Bair, Reserve nurse, to Naval Hospital, San Diego, Calif.; Frances D. Johnson, Reserve nurse, to Naval Hospital, New York, N. NAVAL AIR NOTES

NINE hours from Seattle to San Diego by air was the recent time of a flight made by Lt. B. H. Wyatt, U.S.N., according to a report received in the Navy Department. Lt. Wyatt flew a standard Navy DeHavilland plane and covered the 1,200 miles at an average speed of 133 miles an hour, which is considered an exceptional performance. The fast time is attributed not so much to the type of plane used as to the superior type of airmanship displayed. The time of the flight represents one-fifth of that required to travel from Seattle to San Diego by rail, the best through service requiring 51 hours. One stop was made for refueling at San Francisco.

And he has lived to see it

Back in 1885, Thomas A. Edison succeeded in transmitting electricity at 220 volts for one mile—an achievement and a promise.

The promise was fulfilled a few months ago, when electricity at 220,000 volts was transmitted two hundred and forty miles to supply Los Angeles with light and power.

The General Electric Company produces electrical apparatus which makes it possible to transmit power over these great distances and has put electricity into seven-league boots. In its laboratories, scientists are now experimenting with voltages ten times as great as the highest now in use.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

THE THREE "AGES" OF SHOEMAKING

For centuries and centuries the method of making footwear did not vary. A mural painting discovered in the ruins of ancient Thebes shows Egyptian sandal-makers at work after the manner of the early New England cobblers. Until a few generations ago boots and shoes were made entirely by hand, and wholly by the individual craftsman. This was the first "age" of shoemaking.

In the Eighteenth Century small domestic shoe-shops arose, and groups of men and women, in shops and homes, made the footwear of the people, the work being more or less divided, but all still done by hand. This was the second "age".

About the middle of the Nineteenth Century the factory system developed and the introduction of shoe machinery began, until to-day in no field of manufacture has greater progress been made or more efficiency been attained through machinery. This is the third "age".

There is a machine now available for practically every process in the making of shoes. And, by the way, there are one hundred and forty different operations in the making of a Goodyear Welt Shoe, universally recognized as without a peer in those qualities which make a shoe desirable,—comfort, durability, appearance.

NOTES FROM THE BATTLE FLEET

THE U.S.S. Oklahoma shortly after leaving the navy yard, Puget Sound, on Saturday, May 17, had a receiver pipe of the port engine crack, necessitating stopping that engine. Tugs from the navy yard went to the assistance of the Oklahoma, turning her around and escorting her back to the navy yard. The Oklahoma left the navy yard on May 22 for San Pedro after the completion of necessary repairs.

The commander-in-chief, United States Fleet, Adm. R. E. Coontz, was taking passage on the Oklahoma when the accident to her port engine occurred. Upon the return of the Oklahoma to the navy yard Adm. Coontz transferred his flag to the U.S.S. Doyen and left the navy yard, Puget Sound, on Monday, May 19, for San Pedro. The Doyen arrived at San Pedro on Wednesday, May 21, and Adm. Coontz moved to the U.S.S. California to be the guest of Adm. Robison, commander-in-chief, Battle Fleet, for a few days. On Saturday, May 24, Adm. Coontz left for San Diego to be the guest of Rear Adm. F. H. Schofield on his flagship the U.S.S. Omaha. Adm. Coontz met the U.S.S. Argonne upon its arrival in San Diego and welcomed Mrs. Coontz, who made the trip on the transport from the East coast. On Tuesday, May 27, Adm. Coontz left San Diego for Annapolis to attend the alumni banquet at the Naval Academy.

REAR ADM. W. V. PRATT transferred his flag on May 20 from the U.S.S. Arizona to the Tennessee. The Arizona left on May 21 for the navy yard, Puget Sound, for annual overhaul and docking. The Tennessee has been attached to Battleship Division 5, but due to the expected arrival of the U.S.S. Colorado the U.S.S. Tennessee has been assigned to Battleship Division 4 and will continue to act as flagship for that division until the return of the U.S.S. Arizona about July 7.

ORDERS have been issued to the U.S.S. Ramapo to proceed direct to the Canal Zone after loading fuel oil at Martinez, Calif. Upon discharging cargo of fuel oil the Ramapo will return to San Pedro, stopping at Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, several days for liberty.

THE U.S.S. Cuyama left San Diego on May 20 for the navy yard, Puget Sound with a cargo of fuel oil. The Cuyama after discharging the fuel oil will take a limited number of passengers and freight to San Francisco and San Pedro. Upon the return of the Cuyama to San Pedro she will remain with the Fleet for the summer cruise, refueling ships of the Fleet as may be necessary.

A LARGE NUMBER of the younger officers attached to the Battle Fleet have been ordered to the Asiatic Station. Most of these officers, who have no families, have been ordered to the U.S.S. Vega for passage, leaving San Francisco on June 12. The officers having families have been ordered to take passage on the U.S.S. Argonne, leaving San Francisco for the Orient on June 14.

THE Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. gave a large luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Calif., on Friday, May 23, to inaugurate a campaign to raise $750,000 to build a new Army and Navy Y.M.C.A. building at San Pedro. Adm. Robison, commander-in-chief, Battle Fleet, accompanied by several members of his staff attended the luncheon and spoke of the desirability of having a building of this kind in San Pedro. As the liberty parties from the ships basing at San Pedro number as high as 5,000 men the necessity of having a suitable place for the men on liberty has long been evident.

ON Thursday, May 22, about eighty members of the California Press Association visited the U.S.S. Idaho at San Pedro, Calif. Arrangements were made to transport the members of the association with their families to and from the ship and officers and chief petty officers were detailed to show the visitors around.

BATTLESHIP DIVISION 4, Battle Fleet, consisting of the Arizona, Mississippi and Idaho, were scheduled to fire long range battle practice on Friday, May

16. Due to poor visibility these ships were unable to fire on either the scheduled date, or the day following. This division fired its practice on Monday, May 19. Battleship Division 3 fired long range battle practice on Wednesday, May 21, and Battleship Division 5 fired on Thursday, May 21; both divisions having excellent weather conditions.

CAPT. A. J. HEPBURN has reported as chief of staff to Vice Adm. Wiley, commander Battleship Divisions, Battle Fleet. Capt. Hepburn has just returned from Constantinople, Turkey, where he acted as chief of staff to Rear Adm. Bristol. Capt. Hepburn relieves Capt. L. R. Sargent, who was detached in March and who has recently reported for duty in the 11th Naval District.

L. T. COMDR. R. K. TURNER has been detached from duty as gunnery officer on the staff of Vice Adm. McCully, commander Scouting Fleet, and ordered to command the U.S.S. Mervine attached to the Destroyer Squadrons, Battle Fleet.

L. T. COMDR. F. T. BERRY has been detached from the Naval Academy and ordered as squadron engineer of Squadron 12, Destroyer Squadrons, Battle Fleet.

A more detailed schedule covering the above ports will be made out at a later date, giving the dates of overhaul at the navy yards and the ports of firing gunnery exercises and tactical maneuvers.

NOTES OF CHEMICAL WARFARE SERVICE

MAJ. EARL J. ATKINSON, C.W.S., U.S.A., has been assigned as assistant military attaché for chemical warfare at the United States Embassy at London, England.

On finishing his special course at Edgewood, he will return to Fort Leavenworth as instructor of chemical warfare.

UPON the completion of his course of instruction at the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, Kas. Maj. Walter C. Baker, C.W.S., U.S.A., will report for duty in the office of the Assistant Secretary of War, Washington, D.C.

SPECIAL WASHINGTON SERVICE NEWS LETTER

by E. B. JOHNS

Washington Correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal

ALTHOUGH some small bills may be passed under the unanimous consent rule by the House in the closing days of this the first session of the 68th Congress, all of the important Army legislation is now on its way to the President and some of it may be signed before it is read. On the whole, the result will be disappointing to the Services, as some very important bills have failed of passage and others are not out of the committee. The bills that have been favorably reported from a committee will be on the calendar of the Senate or House until March 4, 1925. Until this Congress, which comes to an end at that time, has adjourned there will be prospects of passage of bills that have been favorably reported.

In this session the watchword has been economy. Under the leadership of President Coolidge and before him President Harding, the Republican leaders in both the Senate and the House have been resisting the passage of any bill which would call for appropriations. The Republican leaders have been under the impression that the best asset for the party in the approaching elections would be a reduction in the tax rates, and they have been inclined to sacrifice the efficiency of both the Army and Navy with this end in view. As little or no demand came from the Democratic side of the Senate and House for Army and Navy legislation and appropriations, the War and Navy Departments are to be congratulated that they secured even the small program that will be on the statute books when Congress adjourns for this session.

The most important legislation secured for the Army was the bill (S. 2169) amending the National Defense act. This contains the increase for the number of non-commissioned officers in the Regular Army and was obtained only after three years of recommendations and agitation.

PAY AND GRADES OF ENLISTED MEN

It was extremely unfortunate that the conferees struck from the bill the provision which authorizes the Secretary of War to "fix the pay and grades of all enlisted men of the Army retired prior to the inception on July 1, 1920, of the operation of Sec. 4(d) of the National Defense act as amended. Representative Speaks of Ohio, who for years served efficiently in the National Guard, secured the adoption of this amendment on the floor of the House after the bill had been reported out of the House Committee on Military Affairs. When the conferees' report was brought up for adoption in the House Gen. Speaks protested vigorously against the action of the joint conferees. In the course of his remarks on the subject Gen. Speaks said:

"The amendment relates to enlisted men of the Army with thirty years of service upon which they retired. When the bill was drafted the language in one particular was such that the Comptroller held that these men could not occupy their classifications which it had been intended they should have. The language of this bill simply authorizes the Secretary of War to so classify them.

"I may add that the men affected are old soldiers who enlisted in the Army forty or fifty years ago at $13 per month. After serving in the ranks at $13 for some time they would be promoted to the grade of corporal with a slight increase in pay and after six or eight years they would be elevated to a sergeantcy and probably spend many years in this position. They were encouraged to remain in the Army with the hope that continuous service and an excellent record might enable them to attain the rank of a post non-commissioned officer.

"When the Pay bill was enacted in 1922 on the claim that all officers, non-commissioned officers and enlisted men were entitled to increased compensation these old men were never given consideration, and the bill enacted July 1 provided that retired enlisted men of the Army and Marine Corps shall have retired pay computed as now authorized on the basis of pay provided in this act, that is the bill you had then enacted.

"It is clearly the intention of Congress in revising the entire pay schedule that these faithful old enlisted men should be recognized and included in the benefits conferred by its provisions. The object of this amendment is merely to clarify the language so that the Comptroller will find no occasion for questioning its meaning and withholding the increased pay intended by Congress."

HOPE FOR BILL AT NEXT SESSION

Acting Chairman McKenzie, in explaining the action of the Joint Conference Committee in striking out the Speaks amendment, said:

"I am not certain, but am rather inclined to believe that there is some merit in the contention of the gentleman from Ohio, but the conferees felt that it is a matter that is too involved to include in this bill without further consideration and investigation. Therefore it is excluded."

In discussing the matter afterward Mr. McKenzie expressed the belief that after the committee had gone into the matter with greater care that some legislation would be passed at the next session.

EQUALIZATION OF RETIRED PAY

The Hull bill for the equalization of retired pay for officers and enlisted men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, as stated previously in these columns, did not come up on the floor of the House as was expected. The committee of retired officers who have been working in and out of season for the Hull bill were handicapped with a lack of an approval by the War Department. The War Department did not disapprove or oppose the bill, but failed to give it any support. The committee succeeded in securing a favorable report from the House Committee on Military Affairs, which was handling all legislation relating to the amendment of the joint Service Pay act of 1922. The bill was on the calendar and was on the verge of being considered by the House on the last day upon which the Military Committee had the right of way in the House. It was a case of being so near, but yet so far. While the committee is somewhat disappointed, it is not discouraged and is confident with its present position on the calendar that the bill will become a law at the next session.

JOINT PAY ACT

The bill (H.R. 4820) for the amendment of the Joint Pay act went through the Senate as if it were a mere matter of detail. The joint conferees agreed to the bill as it passed the Senate, and the adoption of the conferees' report in the House met with no opposition. It was thought that either in the Senate or the House the Comptroller General's friends would raise an objection to this bill to correct so many of his decisions. Of course, it is a little early to stage a grand jubilee, as the Comptroller General may decide that things are not what they seem when he comes to examine the provisions of the bill. In fact, his acquiescence is apt to raise some doubt as to the effectiveness of the measure which slid through Congress so easily.

DETAIL OF MAJ. KIRBY

ONE of the most interesting developments in the agitation growing out of the passage of the bill authorizing the President to detail Maj. Wallace W. Kirby as Director of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving at Washington has been the attitude of union labor. President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor went to the Capitol and urged the passage of the bill. Evidently Maj. Kirby's administration was more satisfactory to the union labor employees of the bureau than previous political appointees.

There is a good reason why the institution which prints the billions of dollars in money and bonds of the government should be under military control. It is not an ordinary government bureau or a printing establishment. Under the existing rules every time there is a change of crews or the bureau is closed it is necessary to account for every piece of paper that has been issued through various channels to the printers. At least, the institution is under suspicion and is being investigated. The stability of the finances of the government depends upon how institution is conducted. Naturally, Secretary Mellon, who fully appreciates the importance of efficient management of the bureau, does not want to make a change since Maj. Kirby has made such a pronounced success as director of the bureau.

It seems very curious that during the discussion of the subject no one had mentioned the fact that the Army built the Panama Canal. Army engineers, assisted by Navy officers, made a success out of this great project while engineers of international reputation were declaring that it could not be built. There are a number of institutions in Washington which should be under the supervision of Army or Navy officers if there is any foundation for the complaints that are being made against them by Congress. Time and time again when the civilian establishment has fallen down the Army and Navy has been called in to meet an emergency. This is true in the San Francisco earthquake and in numerous Mississippi and Ohio river floods. The Secretary of the Treasury declared that there is an emergency in the affairs of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and Congress grudgingly authorized the detail of Maj. Kirby for six months while he asked for his services for two years. The favorite theme of Congress is economy and efficiency, but when politics becomes involved and it is a question of the appointment of some influential political leader the statesmen are not inclined to work at the trade of "economy and efficiency."

JAPANESE EXCLUSION BILL

IN his reply to my reference to the attitude of the Federal Council of Churches on the Japanese Exclusion bill, Chaplain Charles S. Macfarland, O.R.C., cites previous declarations of the Council on the treatment of Asiatics. The central thought of Rev. Macfarland's communication which was published in the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL on May 14, page 938, is that our immigrant laws are not domestic but international affairs. According to his argument, we should not exclude Japanese until we have made a treaty with Japan. According to cables, Japan has gone a step farther and will appeal to the League of Nations on the issue. If we were a member of the League of Nations, as the Federal Council advocates, in good faith we would be compelled to submit our immigration laws to the League, and the League would determine who should come into this country and who should be excluded.

All this discussion cannot obscure the fact that the Federal Council of Churches is seeking to infringe upon the sovereignty of the nation. Once this country concedes that it is not entitled to exclude Japanese without consent of that nation it cannot consistently exclude the people of any other nation. It is only a step farther to the doctrine that the Congress has not the right to limit immigration.

But with all due respect to Chaplain Macfarland and his organization, I venture to say that it does not have the authority to speak for the millions of church members which are supposed to be represented in this council. As one who is of a Methodist family and educated in a Methodist college, I venture to declare that the pacifist and pink utterances at the recent Methodist conference do not represent the great body of patriotic Methodists. For almost a hundred years the Methodist conference annually placed a ban upon dancing and theaters, but good Methodists continued to attend the theaters and entertain their friends at dances. I never heard of a Methodist being churched because he attended a theater or a dance. Finally, at the last conference, according to dispatches, the ban on theaters and dances was raised, but this will not affect the conduct of any good Methodist. Those who believe in dancing will continue dancing and those who enjoy the theaters and movies will attend as usual.

I have made numerous inquiries among church members who are active in their duties and I have yet to find any who know just what relations exist between his church and the Federal Council of Churches. The whole Pacific coast is outraged by the suggestion that Congress should wait for the consent of Japan before it passes the immigration law. I am sure the Federal Council of Churches does not represent this section on the question of Japanese exclusion. The members of Congress at Washington would have more confidence in the pronouncement of the Federal Council of Churches if Chaplain Macfarland would inform those in authority as to what steps his office has taken to obtain the real sentiment of the members of the churches on this subject. As a matter of fact, it has no means for obtaining the views of even a minority of good and faithful church members on this subject or any other. Sooner or later there will be a rebellion in the churches against the assumption of a few men stationed at Washington to speak for the millions of worshippers in the churches of the country.

NEW GENERAL OFFICERS

IF Congress had attached to the bill for the amendment to the National Defense act the provision which authorized the President to appoint a brigadier general as chief of the branch and create a vacancy in that grade it is stated that Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, commandant of the Cavalry School, Fort Riley, Kas., would be appointed to succeed Maj. Gen. Willard A. Holbrook as Chief of Cavalry when the latter retires on July 23. Now that this recommendation has failed of passage it is stated that Secretary Weeks is in a quandary as to whether to appoint Gen. King, as this action would result in the loss of a brigadier general for other duties. There is an impression in some quarters that the Secretary will appoint a colonel and there are quite a number under consideration.

During the month of July the Secretary will be called upon to name another major general and a brigadier general due to the retirement of Maj. Gen. Charles H. Muir on July 18. About the same time it is expected that he will select an officer to succeed Col. William K. Naylor as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-2, and another to succeed Brig. Gen. Stewart Heintzelman as Assistant Chief of Staff of the War Plans Division of the General Staff.

NAVY LINE AND STAFF

SUCH slow progress has been made in the consideration of the bill for the equalization of promotion between the line and the staff of the Navy before the House Committee on Naval Affairs that the Navy Department has decided to ask the Senate committee to report out the bill. The original plan was for the Senate committee to wait until the House committee had acted, and then take the measure.

It is stated that the sub-committee of the Senate committee of which Senator Pepper is chairman has been ready for some time to report out a bill.

It is expected that the House leaders will give time for consideration of the Omnibus Naval bill after the Ship bill (H.R. 8687) has been disposed of in the lower house. It is thought that if the Naval Omnibus bill is passed by the House that it can be taken up in the Senate before adjournment this session and passed without much opposition.

27TH INFANTRY DIVISION

ALL aerial roads will lead to Staten Island, when the 27th Division Air Service, N.Y. National Guard, holds its flying circus at Miller Field, June 28. This will be the first instance of a National Guard Aviation Corps staging an air meet.

The feature of the day will be aerial maneuvers in which smoke screens will be laid by planes against attacking forces. In the course of the sham battle in the skies here will also be aerial duels and balloon shooting. Other events will be races between planes, a race between whip-tanks, an altitude test, relay races, exhibitions by aerial acrobats and champion Army parachute jumpers and stunt flying. Maj. Kenneth L. Littauer is chairman of the meet and Capt. G. L. Usher grand marshal.

The 27th Division Air Service numbers several officers who were "aces" in the World War. Maj. George A. Vaughn, the commanding officer, won the D.S.C., holds decorations from most of the Allied Powers, and was credited with bringing down thirteen German planes.

Miller Field, which was given the state by Col. William K. Vanderbilt, is at New Dorp, S.I. There the 102d Observation Squadron has nine Curtiss JN-4's and DeHaviland two-seaters in their hangars. They will hold their summer training camp this year July 27 to Aug. 10.

77TH INFANTRY DIVISION

THE following Reserve officers have been assigned to the 77th Infantry Division: Second Lt. M. Coblentz, S. S. Swindells, R. S. Johnson and W. M. Behrens, Brooklyn, N.Y., to 304th Field Art. ENROLLMENT for the C.M.T.C. at Del Monte and Fort Scott exceed 120 per cent. of the quota set for California. The success of the 1924 campaign is largely due to Col. E. J. Smith, C.S., 91st Division; Lt. Col. W. J. O'Loughlin, in charge of the Del Monte camp program; Maj. F. W. Manley, adjutant; and the excellent co-operation of county representatives of the M.T.C. Association and the Reserve officers of the division. The assistance of Army officers on duty with the colleges and schools of California has been exceptionally valuable this year, and as a result practically all of the leading schools of the state will be represented at the summer camp.

Maj. Joseph J. Mora, one of the leading sculptors and artists of the West, contributed a special cover design for the 91st Division Bulletin of May. A dashing cow puncher in the middle of Powder River was the subject of his sketch and the words of the famous "Powder River" yell of the old 91st appeared about the wild westerner.

Headquarters will be transferred to Del Monte about June 15 in connection with the C.M.T. camp, and the Presidio offices will be closed until after Sept. 1.

HAWAIIAN INFANTRY DIVISION

MARKING its twenty-third year of valorous service to the colors, the 27th Infantry, now stationed at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii, celebrated its birthday in an appropriate manner, with a regimental color parade, field meet, boxing bouts and general entertainment on the program. In interpreting the spirit of the day and expressing in eloquent language the splendid traditions and ideals of the regiment, Col. Howard Laubach, regimental commander, made an interesting address to the members of the organization.

Col. Laubach, among other things, told the men stirring tales of bravery and feats of endurance that characterized the men of the 27th during their campaigns and in closing his address said: "It is the spirit of the 27th Infantry that has carried it through all these years and if to-day or to-morrow, duty calls, the men of this regiment will respond, ready to make the supreme sacrifice." Two color bearers marched forward and received the battle streamers of Mindanao and Siberia.

The field meet resulted in a win for Co. A of the regiment with Co. G a close second. After the meet a shoe and reveille race was held for the recruits of the organization and furnished much amusement for the older members. The first sergeants of the regiment then challenged the officers to a baseball game, which the latter won by a 4 to 3 score. In the evening boxing bouts were held, followed by a musical program that ended the birthday celebration.

2D CAVALRY DIVISION

HEADQUARTERS Troop, Service Troop, and the 2d Squadron Detachment, 4th Cavalry, have returned to Fort McIntosh, Texas, from the target range where they have been in camp since April 1. Satisfactory percentages of qualification were reported by each troop. Troops E, F and G take their places on the range this week and remain there until July 1. The tryouts for the Cavalry rifle and pistol team have been completed under the direction of Capt. P. S. Haydon. Following are the high score men and their scores: Rifle—Sergt. George W. Cobler, Hqrs. Det., 2d Sqdn., 317; Sergt. Edmund Messier, Troop E, 323. Pistol—Sergt. George W. Cobler, Hqrs. Det., 2d Sqdn., 90.83 per cent.; 2d Lt. Edgar A. Gilbert, 4th Cav., 89.73 per cent.

Col. E. E. Booth assumed command on April 22. Maj. H. L. King, who has been in command since Col. Hickok's departure last January, left on May 15, for his new duties with the Organized Reserves at Denver, Colo. Maj. and Mrs. King's departure is greatly regretted not only by the regiment, but by the people of Laredo as well. The officers tendered Maj. King a very successful "despedida" in Nuevo Laredo on May 12.

Col. Booth has been called upon twice for addresses by the Rotary Club of Laredo. On the first occasion his subject was the "National Defense Act," and on the second, "The Relation of the Regular Service to Civic Welfare in Peace Time." Last week the colonel and ten officers made a trip by motor to King's Ranch, as a result of which eleven thoroughbred horses have been added to the regimental mount.

AN interlude of three days between the return of Headquarters and Service troops from, and the departure of Troops E, F and G, for the range was utilized by all-day tactical exercises by troop and squadron, followed on the third day by a regimental field inspection.

A serious warehouse fire on the outskirts of the post tested the efficiency of the post fire department on the night of May 20. Working in conjunction with the city apparatus, the fire was brought under control and prevented from spreading to nearby gasoline storage tanks. The troops in the post were also turned out and stood ready to give any assistance needed.

The Fort McIntosh golf links are in fine shape and are daily enjoyed by a number of officers and ladies of the post as well as by a score or more civilian enthusiasts from Laredo. The leading lights among the lady players of the post are Mrs. Haydon, Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Merrick. Among the officers Capt. Willoughby and Lt. Hammon and Bromley are the low-score men.

Col. Booth has been ordered to Fort Sam Houston on temporary duty in connection with the annual tactical inspection of the 2d Division by the corps area commander.

OFFICERS of the 533d Coast Artillery, which is in the Coast Artillery Brigade (A.A.) of the 1st Army, reviewed the 7th Coast Artillery at the recent demonstration at Fort Hancock, N.Y., on May 24. The officers of the 533d C.A. have held a dinner each month during the past winter before attending their military lectures. The regiment has been selected to undergo training at Camp Upton with the 62d C.A. from July 1 to 15. Most of the officers of the regiment are engineers by profession. The colonel, Francis R. Stoddard, jr., was one of the first officers to undertake the study of anti-aircraft artillery with the British and French during the World War. Lt. Col. Ogilby was a well known artillery instructor at Fort Monroe and has been recently assigned for extra duty as instructor in artillery at Fort Hancock.

ARMY NOTES

THE winners of the prize essay contest for girls on the subject, "Why a Young Man I Know Should Attend a Citizens' Military Training Camp," as broadcasted from WJZ May 22 by Mrs. Francis Rogers, were, for New York state, Kathryn F. Miller, Rochester; for New Jersey, Ruth Ward, East Orange, and for Delaware, Jeannette Gerry, Wilmington. These girls have won their respective state prizes.

THE report of the Remount Service Quartermaster Corps, issued last week shows that the breeding plan which has been in operation for the past three years is most successful, and that this is becoming to be one of the most non-military activities of the Army. At present this service has 352 stallions, of whom 287 are thoroughbreds. They are located at the breeding centers throughout forty states and are at the disposal of farmers and horse breeders. During the past year twelve additional stallions and one brood mare, all gifts, were added, and in addition Miss Anita M. Baldwin, owner of the Santa Anita rancho, California, presented fourteen mares, four yearlings and ten weanlings, to the Army. The following is taken from the Remount Service report:

"During the breeding season of 1921 there were bred 4,129 mares to 159 stallions, with a reported get of 1,777 foals, or approximately 43 per cent. For the breeding season of 1922, 7,000 mares were bred to 219 stallions, with a reported get of 2,700. During the breeding season of 1923 approximately 8,000 mares were bred to 259 stallions. While complete reports as to the foals obtained from the breeding in 1923 are not as yet available, it is estimated that at least 3,200 foals will result from that breeding."

THE citizens of Fort Collins, Colo., are enthusiastic backers of the local R.O. T.C. State College Agricultural unit in that city and the local National Guard organization.

The Fort Collins Chamber of Commerce recently passed a resolution to give young men belonging to the units preference in their search for work and pledging the chamber's moral support to all plans for national defense as exemplified by the units.

The Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs of Fort Collins have already, or will soon, pass a similar resolution, according to report.

WITH THE REGULAR SERVICES

MED. CORPS EXAMS. FOR MASTER AND TECH SERGTS

ANNOUNCEMENT was made this week by the War Department relative to the examination for master sergeant and technical sergeant, Medical Department, Medical and Dental and Veterinary Service. In accordance with the provisions of paragraph 6, Army Regulations 615-15, Maj. Gen. Merritte W. Ireland, Surgeon General, has designated dates of examinations for promotion as follows:

Technical sergeant, Oct. 6-11, 1924.

Master sergeant, April 6-11, 1925.

It will be to the advantage of staff sergeants who contemplate competing in the April, 1925, examination for appointment to master sergeant to qualify in the examination for technical sergeant, and the dates have been so arranged so that it will be possible for candidates for advancement to take both examinations.

Requests for admittance to the class to be examined for technical sergeant should not be forwarded from corps area headquarters or from the various stations prior to July 1 or later than Aug. 20, while applications for the master sergeant examination should not be filed before Jan. 1 or later than March 20. Until the examinations are held present eligible lists will govern in making promotions. Complete instructions pertaining to the examinations will be forwarded in due course of time.

In the Philippine Department, Panama Canal Department and Hawaiian Department, the department surgeon, and for the American Forces in China the chief surgeon will take final action, as heretofore, for the Surgeon General.

BUREAU NAV. TO RATIFY BONUS BENEFIT RECORDS

THE Navy's work in verifying the service records of the enlisted personnel, nurses and those commissioned and warrant officers who are eligible for adjusted compensation will be done in the Bureau of Navigation, which is headed by Rear Adm. Andrew T. Long, U.S.N.

The Records Section of the Enlisted Personnel Division has on file the completed records of the 551,739 enlisted men of the Navy and Naval Reserve Force and the yeomen (female) of the Naval Reserve who served during the World War. Lt. Comdr. Charles B. Hatch, U.S.N.R.F., who had been in charge of that section since, has had the records of all the enlisted personnel completed for some time.

It is estimated that approximately 6,000 commissioned and warrant officers are eligible for adjusted compensation.

NEW SAN PEDRO NAVY FREIGHT OFFICE OPENED

A NAVY freight office has been established at San Pedro, Calif., for the handling of household effects for officers and enlisted men and for the handling of general stores and freight assigned to the ships of the Battle Fleet basing on San Pedro. Since the decommissioning of the submarine base at San Pedro in August, 1923, there has been no way in which freight could properly be handled on shore.

The establishment of this freight office with an officer in charge makes it possible for officers to ship their household effects to San Pedro and for officers leaving the vicinity of San Pedro to have their effects crated and shipped in accordance with the provisions of the Navy Regulations. The office is in the New Terminal Warehouse Building, Room 106, Outer Harbor, San Pedro, Calif.

COMPUTING CLOTHING ALLOWANCE, U.S. ARMY

IN the development of the present clothing regulations of the Army it has not been the intention to permit a soldier to make savings on his initial credit; neither was it intended that he should start with a half-worn outfit as his full initial equipment with the necessity of making early replacement from his semi-annual allowance.

In the above view, paragraphs 10, 11 and 16 of Army Regulations 615-40 must be construed as follows:

"A soldier will be charged with all articles of initial equipment received by him, at full list value if new, at 50 per cent. list value if worn. He will be credited with the full initial clothing money allowance subject to the provisions of paragraph 5 whether the equipment issued is new or worn."

Thus the cost of early replacements made necessary on account of initial issue of worn clothing is met in part from a temporary and apparent saving of initial credit.

In closing out the clothing accounts of enlisted men company commanders should exercise extreme caution in making their computations.

ORDNANCE OFFICERS OF RESERVE TO BE TRAINED

PROVISIONS have been made for the first time by the War Department to train branch assignment group Reserve officers by the chiefs of branches. It is being planned by the Ordnance Department to hold two camps of instruction at which approximately 150 Ordnance Reserve officers will be trained.

A camp will be held at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., from Aug. 3 to 17, inclusive, for Ordnance Reserve officers of the B.A. Group residing in the 1st, 2d, 3d and part of the 4th Corps Areas. A general course of instruction will be pursued covering the entire field of Ordnance activity.

There will also be held at Rock Island Arsenal a course of training for Ordnance Reserve officers of the branch assignment group residing in part of the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th Corps Areas. It is expected that this instruction will be given the last two weeks in August or the first two weeks in September.

NEW ELEVATING GEAR BOUGHT FOR ARMY GUNS

THE model of the universal elevating gear submitted by the inventor, Karl Petschenig of Vienna, Austria, has been purchased by the Ordnance Department of the U.S. Army. The device is made up for convenience in two units, one of three and one of two drums, rotatably mounted upon their axis. The diameter of the drums is about six and one-half inches and the weight of the heavier unit is approximately five pounds. The drums are so graduated that having set up the announced range on one drum of the 3-drum unit, the gun elevation is read from a drum on the 2-drum unit.

A table accompanying the device gives the initial settings of the 3-drum unit for different muzzle velocities and for different weights of projectiles. Hence, by an extension of the tables by calculation, the elevation for any gun may be obtained. Corrections for errors of the day may also be applied with the aid of suitable tabulated data. Deflection corrections can not, of course, be made. The device was ordered sent to Frankford Arsenal.

149TH ANNIVERSARY OF Q.M. CORPS THIS MONTH

IN a letter sent to 9,000 Quartermaster Reserve officers this week Maj. Gen. W. H. Hart, Q.M.G., U.S.A., calls their attention to the 149th anniversary celebration of the Quartermaster Corps in June and urges that Reserve quartermasters prepare themselves for the test mobilization on Sept. 12. In his letter Gen. Hart said in part:

"Keep in mind that the basic reason for making any plan is to think out and formulate beforehand, in undisturbed moments, the line of action to be taken at a time when everything is disturbed and stress and strain on every hand. All normal planning proceeds from the center outwards. The home office estimates and studies, along the broad lines of it, the maximum load in Supply, Transportation, Construction, Remount and Personnel; arranges to expand existing field installations and supplement them with the necessary additional agencies, then looks to each agency in the field to bear its allotted load."

MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS ASSOCIATION

ANNOUNCEMENT was made by Gen. Robert Lee Bullard at Governors Island, N.Y., on May 23, that less than 900 vacancies now exist in the six C.M.T. camps which will be held in the 2d Corps Area beginning July 1. "Enrollment this year has been rapid," Gen. Bullard said, "and I urge all young men under twenty-four who desire to attend one of these camps to file their applications immediately."

A quota of 4,300 men has been assigned to the 2d Corps Area by the War Department. Maj. Thomas L. Crystal, who is C.M.T.C. officer for the states of New York, New Jersey and Delaware, states that after this number has been enrolled applications will only be accepted tentatively.

WEST COAST WELCOMES NAVY MEN WITH DANCES

THE City of Los Angeles were hosts at a beautiful ball given as a "welcome home party" to the officers of the Battle Fleet stationed in the vicinity of Los Angeles on May 14. All arrangements for the ball were made by the staff of the Los Angeles Examiner, who were placed in charge at the request of Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles.

The grand march was led by Adm. Robison with Mrs. Cryer, wife of Mayor Cryer, of Los Angeles, followed by Mrs. Robison with Mayor Cryer and Mrs. Earle Anthony, chairman of the Reception Committee, with Vice Adm. Wiley. The ball was largely attended by Los Angeles society and by a great many of the prominent motion picture stars now in Los Angeles.

On May 3 the Chamber of Commerce, San Diego, Calif., gave a large "welcoming home" dance to the enlisted men of the Destroyer squadrons. The dance was held at the Civic Auditorium in San Diego and was considered a very great success.

WAR ORGANIZATION OF CHICAGO RESERVE Q.M.

TWO hundred and two Reserve quartermasters have been allocated to the Chicago depot for war organization. Organization of committees of Reserve officers to assist in the industrial survey has been completed in Burlington, Davenport, Muscatine and Sioux City, Iowa; Alpena and Bay City, Mich., and St. Paul, Minn. A similar committee will be organized in Minneapolis by a representative from the Chicago depot. Col. Clifford Game, Q.M. C., commanding the Q.M. Intermediate Depot, Chicago, has made a request of the Assistant Secretary of War that an appropriation of $7,500 be authorized for the opening and maintaining of a consolidated war procurement planning office in that city.

Reports have been received from Maj. T. N. Gimperling, Q.M.C., Fort Sam Houston, Texas, that fifty-seven Reserve officers, the actual number required by the new war-time organization chart, have received their emergency assignments.

In compliance with the new charts, all San Francisco Reserve quartermasters have been assigned to war-time tasks. Many of them are working on the industrial survey.

LONG FIGHT IS WON ON RENTAL ALLOWANCE

Decisions of the Comptroller General Nullified by Senate Bill

VOUCHERS TO BE FILED

WITH the passage of a bill (S. 4820) on May 26 the Services were victorious in their long drawn out fight for their just rental allowances. Under the provisions of this bill, which is effective from July 1, 1922, up to the present time, it will give to a great many officers their back rental allowances which they have been deprived of during all of this time by decisions of the Comptroller General.

The present system of rental allowance accounting, however, will continue in effect until such time as the President issues regulations which will in due course of time be published to the Services. Instructions will shortly be issued notifying all those officers entitled to back allowances to submit their vouchers, which will be paid by the Finance officers. Officers affected by this bill should not write to the Department relative to their claims, but they should wait until the instructions for filing same are issued to the Service.

The memorial which is now in course of construction, is being erected just south of the State, War and Navy Building at a cost of $150,000. The unveiling will be by Pvt. Dan Edwards, who was awarded both the Congressional Medal of Honor and the Distinguished Service Cross.

It is desired by the 1st Division Society that all officers and men who served with the division overseas forward their names and addresses to the Secretary of the 1st Division Reunion Committee, Army Building, 39 Whitehall street, New York city. An effort is being made to compile a complete list, in so far as it is possible, of all those who served with this famous World War division.

JAP RESERVISTS STAGE ANTI-EXCLUSION RALLY

APPLAUDING inflammatory remarks by noted speakers, 10,000 former Japanese service men, now Army reservists, staged an anti-exclusion demonstration at the National Military Shrine in Tokyo on May 26 and adopted a resolution calling on the reservists of the nation to unite for their country's sake.

The resolution said: "In view of the nature of the American-Japanese situation, the Tokyo Association of Reservists declared the determination to fulfill at a moment's call the duties of its members as military men."

Shinkishi Uyesugi, noted nationalistic publicist, declared it no longer was possible to reach a satisfactory compromise with America on immigration.

"If history teaches anything," he continued, "an eventual collision between Japan and America on the Pacific is inevitable."

Lt. Gen. Bunjiro Horinouchi, one of the heroes of the Tsingtao campaign, told the ex-service men, "we must be determined to undergo whatever hardships are necessary in avenging the insult which America has done our country."

NAVAL RESERVISTS MAY NOT BENEFIT BY BONUS

AN examination of the Adjusted Compensation act has created a doubt as to whether commissioned Naval Reservists serving in the World War will be entitled to any of the benefits of the act. This doubt has been created by the language in Sec. 201, Par. 3. This paragraph provides that—

"Any individual holding a permanent or provisional commission, or permanent or acting warrant in any branch of the Military or Naval forces, or (while holding such commission or warrant) serving under a temporary commission in a higher grade, in each case for the period of service under such commission or warrant or in such higher grade after the accrual of the right to pay thereunder. This subdivision shall not apply to any non-commissioned officers."

It is stated that this paragraph may exclude about 20,000 Naval Reservists. At least it will require a decision of the legal authorities before any compensation will be allowed.

U.S.M.C. PROMOTIONS AND EXAMINATIONS

BRIG. GEN. ELI COLE, U.S.M.C., will be promoted on June 2, to succeed Maj. Gen. J. H. Pendleton, who retires on that date, and Col. Dion Williams will be promoted to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of Gen. Cole.

The next examinations of Marine Corps officers for promotion, according to present plans, will occur about Oct. 1. The Central Examining Board has completed the review of all the papers of the examination, which was conducted about April 1. The examination papers of provisional officers are now being marked by the Central Examining Board. It is expected that the board will be ready to report shortly before July 1.

Capt. John M. Arthur, U.S.M.C., will be relieved as recorder of the Central Examining Board as he has been selected to take a course at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

NAVY SELECTION BOARD MEETS FOR PROMOTIONS

THE Navy Selection Board for the Line, which will meet at Washington on June 2, has been instructed to select sixty-four officers for promotion. Six will be selected for promotion to rear admiral, twenty for promotion to captain and thirty-eight to the grade of commander.

TWELVE U.S. RIFLEMEN CHOSEN FOR OLYMPICS

AS a result of the recent three-day try-outs on the Marine Corps rifle range at Quantico, Va., the American rifle team was selected which will represent the United States in the International and Olympic matches which will be held at Chalons and Rheims in June.

The team chosen consists of twelve men. Dinwiddie, who is a 17-year Washington high school student, is one of the youngest boys who ever won a place on an international team. Twenty-six men competed in the Quantico elimination trials. Following the selection of the team the members immediately began intensive training at Quantico. They sailed for France May 30 and are due to arrive in time to participate in all of the marksmanship events.

Following is the personnel of the American team: M. Fisher, Marine Corps; D. Fenton, Inf.; C. T. Osburn, U.S.N.; W. R. Stokes, civilian; R. O. Coulter, Marine Corps; S. R. Hinds, Inf.; J. W. Crockett, D.C.N.G.; R. C. Stokes, civilian; C. Landrock, civilian; M. Dinwiddie, D.C.N.G.; J. K. Boles, F.A.; J. B. Grier, civilian.

AGREEMENT ON ARMY APPROPRIATION BILL

for the classification of civilian employees, the amount being $1,399,592.

ENLISTMENTS UNDER AGE

The enlistment provision as finally agreed to provides:

"That hereafter upon presentation of satisfactory evidence as to his age and upon application for discharge by parents or guardian presented to the Secretary of War within sixty days after the date of his enlistment after July 1, 1924, in the Army under twenty-one years, who has enlisted without the written consent of his parents or guardian, if any, shall be discharged from the Service with form certificate and travel and other allowances to which his service, after enlistment, shall entitle him."

The provision for the employment of retired officers to represent concerns doing business with the Government was agreed to and provides:

(10) None of the money appropriated in this act shall be used to pay any officer on the retired list of the Army who for himself or for others engages in the selling, contracting for the sale of, negotiating for the sale of, or furnishing to the Army or the War Department any supplies, materials, equipment, lands, buildings, plants, vessels, or munitions. None of the money appropriated in this act shall be paid to any officer on the retired list of the Army who is employed in the United States or its possessions by any individual, partnership, corporation, or association regularly or frequently engaged in making direct sales of any merchandise or material to the War Department or the Army, having retired before reaching age of 64 years.

The conferees made allowance of $16,500,000 for transportation of the Army an increase of $100,000 over the House appropriation and a cut of $2,000 below the Senate.

TRANSPORTATION RULING

In dealing with the matter of purchasing new motor transportation, the conferees agreed that "none of the funds appropriated or made available under the act or unexpended balance of any other act shall be used for the purchase of motor propelled passenger or freight carrying vehicles for the Army except one for the Secretary of War and not to exceed $50,000 in the exchange of motors."

The Senate receded on the appropriation for the installation and replacement of electric lights, for seacoast fortifications of Hawaii agreeing to the House appropriation of $11,000. The House agreed to the Senate appropriation of $600,000 for field artillery experiments. The Senate receded on the appropriation on the Rock Island agreeing to the House amount of $30,000.

The Senate provision covering longevity credit for cadet service under the Nece decision was adopted by the conferees. It provides:

(8) Nothing contained in this act, or any other act, shall be construed as depriving any commissioned officer of the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of his right to pay and allowances while serving on such duty as the President may direct in the co-ordination of the business of the Government, as now being conducted by him under the general supervision of the Director of the Bureau of the Budget.

ARMY MEETS NAVY IN SPRING SPORTS TODAY

Midshipmen and Cadets Clash Four Times to Secure Service Supremacy

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED

TO-DAY is the biggest day of the year in Army-Navy athletic history, with the exception of the annual inter-Service football battle, scheduled for the fall. Army meets Navy in baseball, track and tennis at Annapolis, while the Midshipmen lacrosse team engages in its first clash with the Cadets at West Point.

It is the first time in the history of the Service academies that they meet in four branches of spring sports.

The Navy team is slightly favored to win the annual baseball classic, as the Pointers' record this season has not been impressive. However, the fluctuating brand of baseball played by both teams renders the outcome problematical, according to experts. Heavy hitting rather than a pitching duel is expected to decide the contest.

LACROSSE BATTLE EXPECTED

Army has a better lacrosse record for the season, the Cadets being undefeated to date, while the Midshipmen have lost several games, including one to the University of Maryland, which was later beaten by the Pointers. The outcome of this clash cannot be predicted, as both Service teams are "fighting" teams and the result will most likely hinge on the breaks of the battle.

In tennis the Service teams are about evenly matched, the season's records for both showing a marked improvement lately. Both the Army and the Navy met Lafayette this season. Navy won by a score of 5-1, while Army triumphed two weeks ago by 4-2. The difference between the raquetters of both Academies may be considered as negligible.

The track teams are also evenly matched, although sporting writers concede a slight edge to the Cadets. The deductions drawn from comparative scores show that Army is stronger than Navy in field events. In a triangular meet with Georgetown and M.I.T., Army came in second with 53 points to Georgetown's 59. In a dual meet with Georgetown, Navy lost by a score of 76-30.

BOTH HOPE FOR CLEAN SWEEPS

Army hopes to repeat last year's victories in baseball and track, while Navy expects to do the same in tennis. Both Academies desire to avenge last season's defeats and are anxious to be hailed as victor in the initial Army-Navy lacrosse tilt.

The Navy pins its baseball hopes on its superior pitching staff, Mdsn. Dyer, Peterson and Heisser all having performed creditably during the season. The Navy moundsmen have done fine work in pinches and are not likely to blow up during a crucial moment in to-day's contest.

Army's "murderers' row," Cadets Storck, Smythe and Wood, are expected to lead the Army stick assault. The Navy batsmen, Mdsn. Barchet, Harris and McKee, who are excellent baserunners in addition, are Navy's chief reliance as a scoring asset. In lacrosse, Mdsn. Cullen, Navy, captain, Bertschy, Albertson and Billings, the famed Annapolis quartet, will be met by an equally well known Army trio, Cadets Salmon, Vichules and Busby, in what promises to be a battle royal.

Tennis will be featured by an individual clash between such Service net stars as Mdsn. Hartwig, Navy captain, and Cadet Garbisch of football fame. Mdsn. Lyman, Kelley and Patterson round out an exceptionally well balanced Navy team.

In track, Mdsn. Huckins, Navy captain and hurdles star, supported by such sterling performers as Legget of Penthalon fame, and Hammond, crack 440 man, will try to break records on the cinder track against Cadets Barks, who tied the world's record at 80 yards, low hurdles, Newman and Calhoun, Army runners.

NOTICE

West Point operates on daylight saving time. The time shown on the tickets for the Army-Navy lacrosse game as well as the slips which accompany the tickets is daylight saving time.

FOUR ANNAPOLIS CREWS ENTER HENLEY REGATTA

FOUR Navy crews have been priming carefully at Annapolis for the Henley regatta, the premier collegiate rowing event of the season outside of the Olympic tryouts, which will be held on the Schuylkill river at Philadelphia to-day. The Navy has entered varsity, junior varsity, 150-pound and plebe crews in the most important races of the regatta.

The power shown by the Glendon-coached midshipmen crews when they swept the Severn last Saturday, defeating Syracuse decisively in two of three races, and winning all three, prove that they are again likely candidates for the collegiate rowing crown and Olympic honors.

The Navy varsity will face Syracuse, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Columbia in the Stewards' Challenge Cup race. In the junior varsity contest the same collegas are entered. In the 150-pound event the Annapolis eight will get a chance to measure sweeps with the highly praised Yale crew, as well as the Tiger oarsmen and the Quakers.

The Plebes, who have shown much promise, will compete with the Pennsylvania and Princeton freshmen.

ARMY TAKES LACROSSE TILT WITH TORONTO U.

Cadets Triumph in Telegraph and Regular Rifle Meets with 3 Opponents

THE Army lacrosse team, showing excellent form, defeated the University of Toronto last Saturday at West Point in their final game before meeting Navy by a score of 4-1. The game was hardly contested, at half time the Cadets and Canadians being on even terms with the score 1-1. Cadets Marinelli and Gilmore starred in the second half and their fine stick work were responsible for three Army tallies.

The Cadet baseball nine lost to Catholic University by a score of 6-5 in a game played on wet grounds. The Catholics scored three runs in the first inning when Cadet Stadler, the Army pitcher, grew wild. Three hits, a wild pitch and hitting a batsman brought in the initial C.U. scores.

The Army pitcher tightened up in the next inning and held the C.U. sluggers in check until he was replaced by Cadet Merkle in the eighth inning. Cadet Merkle also yielded three runs when he first mounted the mound.

The West Pointers rallied in the ninth and scored two runs, but just fell short of tying the score. The score:

The Army defeated the 102d Engineers, N.Y.N.G., in a riué match at West Point, May 24, by a score of 1,858 to 1,751.

The cadets also fired a telegraphic match with the University of Missouri, defeating them by 1,389 to 1,253.

The Army pistol team defeated Wyoming in a telegraphic match, 2,088 to 1,670.

Under bad weather conditions the Army defeated the tennis team of Syracuse University three matches to one at West Point, Saturday, May 24.

NAVY OARSMEN SWEEP SEVERN IN FINE STYLE

Varsity Shows Olympic Shape in Strength Test with Syracuse Crew

RAIN ENDS LAND SPORTS

JUSTIFYING the claims made by their supporters, three Navy crews swept the Severn river last Saturday at Annapolis in their first real test of strength against the strong Syracuse oarsmen, the Navy varsity leading a powerful Orange crew over the finish line by four and a half lengths. The junior varsity beat Syracuse's junior crew in a close race by half a length, while the Plebes left the Orange freshmen six lengths behind at the finish.

The other sports at the Naval Academy were curtailed by rain. The Navy rifle-men outshot the Quantico Marines in a hard match and the tennis team was leading Philadelphia Osteopathy College when rain ended the contests. The Navy plebe nine had a two-run lead on their opponents in baseball when the downpour forced a discontinuance of the game in the second inning. The track team was beaten by Georgetown 76-30.

The Navy baseball team, playing at Philadelphia, was forced to be content with a 2-2 tie with the University of Pennsylvania, as the game was called in the eighth inning and reverted to a seventh inning score status. In the eighth inning the Navy batsmen had scored two runs and it looked as if they were going to stage a slugging bee when Penn's pitcher faltered.

The decisive victory of the varsity, finishing four and a half lengths ahead of a really good Orange eight, has convinced Navy people that the midshipmen are again serious contenders for the highest honors on the water.

Beaten on field and track by the brilliant Georgetown team, there was some encouragement for the midshipmen in the fact that in a number of track events Navy runners, though finishing second or third, performed better than at any time this year.

The baseball nine at Philadelphia did well in tying the University of Pennsylvania. Rain apparently saved the Quakers, as the midshipmen had made two more runs in their half of the eighth, but the game, when stopped by rain, had to be called back to the end of the seventh, leaving the score 2 to 2. Peterson is expected to start on the slab against the Army, while Capt. Harris has been called from left field to behind the bat.

The Academy riflemen scored a creditable victory over the Quantico Marines, and the tennis players were winning from Philadelphia College of Osteopathy when rain ended the match. All the plebe contests were prevented by weather conditions.

Winning from Syracuse in varsity, second and freshmen races, the Naval Academy oarsmen gave assurance of real aquatic ability and a promise of at least making it interesting for any opponent which they will meet in the Henleys or the Olympic tryouts.

A really fine Syracuse varsity crew was beaten over a two-mile course by four lengths and a half, and the Navy plebes won from the Orange freshmen by nearly six lengths. The Navy second crew had the real fight of the afternoon, overcoming a lead which the visitors had for more than half the course and winning by a little over a length.

Rowing conditions became worse as the afternoon progressed, a head wind gaining strength and the water getting more choppy. This meant that the plebes, rowing first, had somewhat the easier time of it, and their performance was the best of the afternoon, the Syracuse freshmen being second. All the races were over the two-mile course.

The times follow: Naval Academy Varsity, 12.04½; Syracuse Varsity, 12.23; Naval Academy Second Varsity, 12.12½; Syracuse Junior Varsity, 12.16; Naval Academy Plebes, 11.29½; Syracuse Freshmen, 11.49.

Syracuse, with shorter oars, in each case attempted to set a stroke that the Navy could not follow, but the midshipmen, rather easily, except in the second crew race, held their opponents with a stroke of from two to six slower to the minute, and ultimately rowed them to a standstill. In the cases of the varsity and plebes, the Navy boat towards the close was gaining four or five feet with every stroke.

In a field and track meet which was stopped for a time and finally curtailed on account of the rain, Georgetown won from the Naval Academy by 76 to 30, taking all firsts in the track events and two of the three field events contested.

Georgetown presented a well balanced team, particularly as to the track events. The Naval Academy was making a little better showing in the field events, but the jumps and pole vaults were not contested, owing to the storm.

The one really exciting event on the track was the mile. Brooke of Georgetown led for three laps and a half of the fourth, but was passed, first by Sullivan, his teammate, and then by Tyree of the Navy. Hammond of the Navy made a big effort in the quarter, but lost.

The Naval Academy tennis players were leading the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy when rain put an end to the match.

The Plebe nine had two runs to nothing at the end of the second inning of the game against Central High School of Washington when rain prevented further playing.

The rifle team won from the Quantico Marines by 2,278 to 2,256, shooting being at the 200 and 300 yards rapid fire and 200 and 600 slow fire. The midshipmen won through more even shooting, as Cartier and Ashurst of the Marines had the highest individual scores, 236 and 233, respectively.

Mdsn. Fisher had the fine score of 98 out of a possible 100 at the 600-yard range, and Rawlings led the Academy team with a total of 232.

THE BATTLE FLEET.

On May 30 the race boat crews of the battleships of the Battle Fleet will race for the cup presented by the Los Angeles Examiner. This race is for race boat crews made up from enlisted men on their first enlistment, and carries with it points for the annual athletic competition.

The competition among the vessels of the fleet for the Battle Fleet baseball championship is becoming very keen. At present the U.S.S. California stands at the top, having lost no games, with the U.S.S. Tennessee second, having lost only one game. The game between the California and Tennessee, ending in a 3 to 2 score after ten innings in favor of the California, was one of the most bitterly contested games played this year.

The 12th Destroyer Squadron recently won the Battle Fleet championship in the Destroyer Squadrons, and will play a series of games with the Air Craft Squadrons, the winner of this series to play the winner of the series between the battleship champions and Base Force champions for the championship of the Battle Fleet.

FORT SILL, OKLA.

On May 10 and 11 the Univ. of Oklahoma polo team visited Fort Sill, playing the Field Artillery School team on the 10th and the 18th F.A. on the 11th. The first game was won by the University team by a score of 2-1. Lineup for Field Artillery School: 1, Ross; 2, Lewis, Fields; 3, Tate; 4, Greenwald. FACTS PACIFISTS DARE NOT FACE

"When a strong man armed keepeth his palace his goods are in peace" (Luke 11:21).

THE press dispatches of the past week from Japan and from this country clearly demonstrate the inability or the unwillingness of pacifists to face facts. The pacifists are clearly engaged in a campaign to do two things—one, to disarm the United States, and two, to yield to Japan.

The issue between Japan and the United States, stated baldly, is whether or not the Japanese are going to be admitted. The press dispatches from Japan clearly indicate that the anti-American feeling amongst the mass of the Japanese people is not based on whether a "gentlemen's agreement" keeps them out or an act of Congress, but is based on the fact that they are kept out.

The honest American who has lived in the extreme Orient, including Japan, for any period of time and unbiasedly studied the question knows perfectly well that nothing short of the freest possible admission to this country will ever settle the question the way the Japanese nation wishes it settled.

In the same way that the pacifists fail to distinguish between the main question of whether the Japanese wish to enter this country is going to be acceded to by us or not, and the subordinate one of whether our method of telling them is as polite or not as it might be, we are to tell them it is not, they fail to distinguish between the main question of desiring or not desiring war, and the best method of preventing it.

Were it not that the news is continually being printed of this or that body expecting to abolish war through disarmament, on the grounds that armament produces war, it would seem foolish to repeat the statement that the men who know war, and as a consequence believe in armament, are the last to want war.

The pacifist can find no example in history where armament has produced war. In every case where there has been armament it has come after the people concerned have realized one of two facts: either that they could not get, without fighting, the additional territory which their crowded condition urged them to gain, or the commercial expansion which the same crowded condition demanded, or both, on the one hand, or on the other, through the realization by a people, with more territory and wealth per capita than overcrowded neighbors, that if they did not arm they would lose both.

Along with his unwillingness or inability to grapple with bedrock facts of conditions as they are, the pacifist inevitably hurts his case by refusing to believe that any individual who does not agree with him can possibly be actuated by other than unworthy motives. According to the pacifist, there can be no belief in armament unless accompanied by a desire for war.

The constantly recurring attacks on the plan for a tentative outline mobilization of the forces brought into existence by the National Defense act, the first military policy the United States has ever possessed, on Sept. 12 of this year, demonstrates this fact. The forces available and their readiness for war purposes are so inadequate as to make the calling of what will happen upon that day a "test mobilization" would be absurd were it not for the fact that it is such a long step forward from our state of utter confusion and unpreparedness in 1917, as well as at the time of our entry into every other war, that it will undoubtedly go down in our history as a date to be remembered.

The Regular Army and the National Guard, insofar as numbers and equipment are concerned, are far below war strength. There is no trained reserve ready to bring these two components to war strength. They would either have to go as they are or be filled up with untrained men. The Organized Reserve, which would contain the mass of the manhood of the country in case of war, consists merely of a skeleton organization of 75,000 officers.

The men who would have to make up these units have received no training of any kind, and would report, as they did in 1917, straight from civil life, ignorant, in the vast majority of cases, of everything military. The equipment, clothing and other things needed would have to be manufactured, as was the case in 1917. The only improvement in the supply situation is that under the National Defense act the Assistant Secretary of War is steadily organizing, by getting in touch with the manufacturers throughout the country, a plan through which a proper system would immediately obtain, instead of having first to go through a period of confusion and waste.

That the mass of our people, be they male or female, farmers, laborers, lawyers, doctors, business men, officers or enlisted men of the Regular Army or Navy, are not militaristic, in all that they are above all, wars of conquest, is so evident as to be axiomatic.

That the mass of our people, be they male or female, farmers, laborers, lawyers, doctors, business men, officers or enlisted men of the Regular Army or Navy, are so lacking in moral and physical courage that they will yield where a principle on which the future of this country is based, rather than face the terrors of war, our past history shows so definitely to be untrue that it also can be accepted as axiomatic.

Those who in their campaign for disarmament are doing what they can to upset the modest, non-militaristic, relatively inexpensive attempts of the believers in the National Defense act to enforce its provisions and thus, in some measure, to bring about national security, cannot change this basic fact.

History has amply demonstrated from the beginning of time that weakness invites attack, for no matter how much the unprepared people may believe themselves to be right, and the attacker to be wrong and utterly unjustified in his actions, the aggressor is always firmly convinced that his action is amply justified because of the denial to him of the means of relief of a situation which to him appears inconsistent with the national security and future of himself and his people.

If the Pacifists wanted war they could adopt no better method of securing it and that quickly, than to fight their campaign for disarmament to a successful issue.

NEW YORK CITY celebrated "Safety Day" recently. The Pacifists, for some mysterious reason, failed to criticize it. Evidently their chief objection is to National safety; not the civic variety.

BROTHER LIBBY and his tribe are overlooking another great national menace. Don't they realize that the uniformed police forces of our cities constitute a total force greater than the combat troops which they would abolish? Perhaps, however, the disarmament and demobilization of the police will be the object of their next drive.

A GREAT flood of protesting telegrams poured in when the Methodist Episcopal General Conference's committee rendered a report advocating non-participation in any future wars. Evidently some members of the denomination remember a famous pronouncement anent, "I come not to bring peace but a sword."

"Do ye wait for the scattered shrapnel ere ye learn how a gun is laid? For the low, red glow to the Southward, as the raided coast towns burn? Light shall ye have for that lesson—but little time to learn."—Kipling.

VOICE OF THE SERVICES

THE INFANTRY SCHOOL PROJECT

TO THE EDITOR:

THE recreation center project at the Infantry School at Fort Benning is receiving the earnest support of those who understand the situation, as is evidenced by the following letter from an officer of the Infantry School:

"A study of the plans for the Infantry School recreation project and a survey of materials and labor obtainable without cost indicates that the cash requirements for materials that must be purchased and skilled labor that must be hired will be within the conservatively estimated, receipts.

"There are substantial reasons for creating at Fort Benning athletic and officers' club facilities superior to anything heretofore deemed satisfactory for an Army post. These reasons are:

"Our basic training regulations (10-5) make athletics compulsory for all men as an integral part of Infantry training. The War Department instructions governing the Infantry School requires that school to include in its curriculum instruction in the coaching and management of compulsory athletics in troop units and in training camps.

"The troops of the Infantry School, about 4,000 in number, must have a comprehensive athletic program, not only to comply with Training Regulations 10-5, but for demonstration and other purposes in connection with school courses. This implies intra-mural, inter-mural and extra-mural competitions in many sports.

"In due time the center of Infantry interest will be the Infantry School. Fort Benning is destined to be one of the most desirable posts in the Army. The Infantry School is destined to win its place as the center of Infantry training and esprit.

"The hundreds of officers stationed here with their families need a club with diversified activities to offset the disadvantages of remoteness from civilian communities.

"The Infantry School is the station of about one-seventh of all Regular Army Infantry officers. It is the station of about one-tenth of all Infantry soldiers. It is the only meeting ground of National Guard and Reserve Corps Infantry officers from all corps areas.

"A life member pays an initiation fee of $100, all cash or in four monthly installments of $25 each. If he joins the club now he is forever exempt from club dues, even when stationed here. Also, he has for his own exclusive use, when present at Fort Benning, a box in the stadium which is permanently assigned to him and bears his name for all time in a bronze plate imbedded in the concrete floor of the box. Some life members have preferred to substitute the name of some friend killed in action, but the box still belongs to the life member, as stated.

"Very truly yours,

A SADDLER SPEAKS

TO THE EDITOR:

I WAS just thinking how little the men who framed the new pay bill valued the services of a saddler. At one time in the Army the Government thought that a saddler was entitled to a sergeant's pay and also the rank of a sergeant, but after a little while they decided that a sergeant's pay was entirely too much for a saddler and that it was outrageous to humiliate the rank of a sergeant by connecting it with the non-essential trade of a saddler, so they reduced it to a corporal's pay.

When the framers of the new pay bill saw that a saddler was getting a corporal's pay they became excited about the vast amount of money wasted in paying a saddler the enormous sum of money that was paid to the lowest ranking non-commissioned officer, so they then reduced the pay of a saddler to $3 below that of a private first class. That means that a saddler in the Army—it matters not how much proficiency or skill he may possess—is looked upon by our high officials as a non-essential in the Army and is not worthy of a rating that would keep him from feeling ashamed of his trade.

A saddler seems to be the most important man in a post, for every officer in the post has something for a saddler to do, such as making a saddle fit to adorn the back of Man 'o War, golf stick bags fit for the President of the United States, Sam Browne belts fine enough for Gen. Pershing to wear; in fact, a saddler has to make and repair everything from a mule harness down to an officer's braided riding crop. And all he gets for this, that has taken years of experience and schooling to learn, is a pitiful rating of fifth class specialist, $6 added on to his $21, which makes it soar to the enormous sum of $27.

Is not that enough to make a saddler ashamed of his trade and make him wish that he had learned to push a pencil instead of drawing a gauge knife?

SERVICE PUBLICATIONS

THE ERICSSON MEMORIAL

The American-Scandinavian Alliance of New York has just issued a handsome illustrated pamphlet concerning the "Washington Memorial to Capt. John Ericsson, and Its History." This pamphlet is written as a tribute to the greatest of Swedish Americans, and as a further tribute to the memory of the late S. Adolph Eckberg of New York, who, where others had failed for the last forty years, succeeded in getting the services of John Ericsson, officially recognized by the U.S. Government. Among the illustrations are pictures of the Hon. John J. Fitzgerald, the sponsor of the bill for the appropriation of a monument; the late Col. William C. Church, editor of the Army and Navy Journal, a member of the Memorial Commission; a picture of the memorial, and one of the entire commission.

THE SPORTSMAN'S LIBRARY

As a result of a task undertaken several years ago by horsemen and sports lovers, the Cavalry School at Fort Riley, Kas., has recently been presented with a valuable Sportsman's Library of fifty volumes, many of which are exceedingly rare, and which will be read by the present and coming generations of Army equestrians.

The prime mover in the collection and pres-

COMPTROLLER GENERAL

DECISIONS

A receipt by an enlisted man of the Coast Guard of an "ordinary discharge" with the recommendation for re-enlistment brings him within the statute as "honorably discharged" within the meaning of Section 9, the term "honorably discharged" having a broader meaning than "honorable discharge," the former term contemplating a discharge under honorable conditions. In the claimant's case, the recommendation that he be accepted for re-enlistment indicates that his service was acceptable, and accordingly, he is entitled to the $25 enlistment allowance. (Reid's case, May 7, 1924.)

Under the law and regulations, the payment of commutation of quarters to an enlisted man is authorized only in cases where the enlisted man is assigned to duty at a place where public quarters are not available. In the instant case, it appears that the Camp Benning reservation adjoins the city limits at Columbus, Ga., and the fact that claimant was detailed to special duty in that city as chauffeur for the Attending Surgeon did not have the effect of changing his station so as to make quarters in kind at Camp Benning unavailable for his use. (Wills's case, May 7, 1924.)

A sergeant who completed twenty years' service on Aug. 26, 1922, is entitled from that date to the difference in pay between $67.50, the rate of pay that he received for over fifteen years' service, and $72, the rate of pay for over twenty years' service. (McCain's case, May 14, 1924.)

An enlisted man who attended the training school at Camp deMailly, France, from Jan. 25 to March 30, 1918, is entitled to the difference between the pay received and $100 per month while in training. (Price's case, May 17, 1924.)

An assistant naval instructor with the rank of lieutenant, appointed on the permanent list on June 5, 1918, is not entitled to commutation of rations while on sea duty from June 1, 1918, to Feb. 17, 1919, inasmuch as an assistant naval constructor is not within the meaning clause of the act of May 19, 1908. (Kell's case, May 7, 1924.)

Maj. Raymond E. Payne, U.S.A., and Mrs. Payne have motored to Annapolis, to attend the Army and Navy game and class reunion May 31, and will spend several days there.

Altstaetter, U.S.A., with their three children, Mary, Raoul and Antonia, and Mrs. Altstaetter's mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Raoul, sailed from Savannah, Ga., May 15 for Bremen, Germany. They will settle at Tours, France, which will be their headquarters (care of American Express Co.) until some time in September, when Mrs. Altstaetter and the children will return to Savannah.

Capt. Adolphus E. Watson, U.S.N., will relinquish his duties as commanding officer, Enlisted Personnel Division, Bureau of Navigation, early in June, having been ordered to the Naval War College under instruction. Pending the selection of his successor, his duties in the Personnel Division will devolve upon the present executive officer, Comdr. J. M. Smeallie. Capt. Watson has evidenced intense interest in the welfare of the enlisted man, and the morale of the Service.

Capt. Charles Peabody Huff, retired, and Mrs. Huff and their twin sons, Charles Peabody Huff, jr., and George Kleinberg Huff, are receiving a flood of congratulations on the acceptance of the boys' entrance into the Navy. Huff has recently purchased a desirable and pleasing residence in San Francisco, where, since his retirement, he has been identified with the mathematical department of the public high schools. J. P. Barney, 13th Field Art. On the following day the general paid his respects to the department commander at headquarters, the usual honors being rendered. Gen. ADJT. GEN. TAKES OVER BONUS BRANCH HIMSELF

MAJ. GEN. ROBERT C. DAVIS, Adjutant General of the Army, has taken personal charge of the newly organized Adjusted Compensation Branch of the Adjutant General's Department. He has established an office in the building at 6th and B streets, Washington, where he will keep regular office hours in performing this duty in addition to his work as The Adjutant General of the Army.

In making provision for the World War Adjusted Compensation act the records and activities of the World War Division of the Adjutant General's office have been discontinued by incorporation in the new Adjusted Compensation Branch. The three officers and 21 clerks of the old World War Division, who handled a daily average business of about 2,000 communications, have been transferred to the Adjusted Compensation Branch. In addition to Gen. Davis and these three officers five other officers have already been assigned to duty with the new branch. Seven officers and 2,517 clerks remain to be added to the force which will be required to administer the World War Adjusted Compensation act in the War Department.

The present commissioned personnel of the new branch is as follows: Maj. Gen. Robert C. Davis, The A.G.; Maj. John N. Smith, Jr., Michael J. O'Brien, Harry Cope and F. Granville Munson, Capt. David A. Watt, Eugene M. Landrum, Kenneth B. Bush and Harold A. Barnes.

There are approximately 10,000 filing cases in the old World War Division of the Adjutant General's Office in the "E" building at 6th and B streets. These filing cases contain personnel, organization, medical and miscellaneous records. In order to make place for the increase in personnel to handle the Adjusted Compensation act, approximately 6,000 filing cases containing records most likely not to be frequently needed will be removed from this building. It has not as yet been decided where they will be moved to. The question has been taken up with the Chairman, Public Buildings and Grounds Commission, with a view to obtaining a fireproof building for the housing of these records, which are mostly organizational records.

C.M.T.C. RECRUITING FOR 5TH CORPS AREA

AS of May 24 a total of 3,629 applications for the C.M.T. Camp which will be held at Camp Knox, Ky., from July 2 to July 31 were on file at 5th Corps Area headquarters, Fort Hayes, Ohio. This is 68.4 per cent. of the total of 5,300 which has been allocated to this corps area for the 1924 camp.

To date, Ohio has furnished 1,427 candidates or a percentage of 58.6. West Virginia, as previously stated in these columns, is away over her authorized quota of 615. This state has already enrolled 1,109 young men for this camp, or a percentage of 180. Indiana has enrolled 601 out of a quota of 1,240, or 48.7 per cent., while Kentucky has applications from 492 candidates out of her allocation of 1,010, or 48.7 per cent.

Indiana business men are taking an active part in recruiting for the Knox C.M.T. Camp, and a number of the largest commercial houses are sending their employees to the camp. The following resolution passed by the Associated Employers of Indianapolis, Ind., indicates the hearty support which the business men in this section of the country are giving to this movement:

"Resolved, by the board of directors of the Associated Employers of Indianapolis, Inc., on May 14, 1924, that we heartily endorse military training and urge the participation of Indianapolis men in the citizens' training camp at Camp Knox, Ky., in June."

CHICAGO Q.M. CORPS DEPOT MATTERS

OVER ninety buyers representing all sections of the United States attended the recent sale held at the Chicago Quartermaster Intermediate Depot, which is now rated as one of the most important Army plants in the country. Among the sales concluded were 57,130 yards of O.D. cotton cloth; 909,819 pairs of cotton flannel mittens; 949,383 yards of shirting flannel; 130,735 pairs of cotton breeches; 30,214 yards of 20-ounce melton O.D.; 74,155 pairs of stockings; 50,000 horse and mule blanket-lined covers; and 193,136 cotton coats.

The return from the sale, which took place more than five years after the World War, was gratifying to the authorities, as the amount of recovery to the Government was about seventy per cent. Nothing was realized on the 162,399 woolen blankets put on sale, as no offer for them was acceptable. A similar condition existed when these same blankets were previously offered for sale at New York, San Antonio and Chicago. The belief was expressed by officers in charge of the sale that the market for this article is declining and that prices are coming down.

Purchase of 5,91,978 pounds of flour for issue to troops of the Regular Establishment and those men attending the summer camps during July, August and September, at fifty-one posts and stations throughout the United States, was just recently concluded by the Chicago Quartermaster Intermediate Depot, Chicago. Thirty-seven bids were received by the depot from the circular proposals which were sent last months to 152 flour mills calling for bids. Most of the award was given to the Southwestern Milling Co., Kansas City, Mo., which was successful in its bid for 4,937,732 pounds of hard wheat flour costing $129,680.48. The total cost of the flour was $146,971.27. Other items were divided among the following firms: Washburn-Crosby Co., Chicago, Ill.; Maney Milling Co., Omaha, Neb., and Hubert J. Horan, Philadelphia, Pa.

ARMY NOTES

COL. LEROY HERRON, president of the District of Columbia, Department, R.O. Association, has announced in the Washington papers a drive for enlisted Reservists. The colonel states: "It has often been said that the non-commissioned officer is the backbone of the Army. That this is to a great extent true is borne out by the fact that in assembling the skeleton of the Organized Reserves the War Department considered it necessary to enlist the non-commissioned officers and specialists, that the anatomical structure of the organization might be complete."

MEMBERS of the Reserve Officers Association of the 5th Congressional District of Indiana, were the guests of the R.O.T.C. of Depauw University, at Greencastle on Tuesday, May 13. The R.O.T.C. unit passed in battalion review. Lt. Col. Benjamin E. Wimer of the 333d Infantry acting as reviewing officer with the other Reserve officers acting as his staff.

At the close of the review, Col. Wimer presented commissions as second lieutenants in the Reserve Corps to those members of the R.O.T.C. unit who are graduating this year, ten in number.

A squadron of five airplanes were brought from Schoen Field, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Lt. J. E. Parker, A. S., staged a demonstration of straight and fancy flying with machines of the latest type.

Following the afternoon program the Reserve officers were entertained by the Scabbard and Blade Fraternity of Depauw.

LT. CHARLES N. MONTEITH, A.S., Chief of the Airplane Section, Engineering Division, and member of the subcommittee on Aerodynamics, N.A.C.A., McCook Field, is at West Point to assist in the instruction of the second class in Aerodynamics. He is the author of the text now in use at the Academy.

The Inevitable Reward!

No. 33

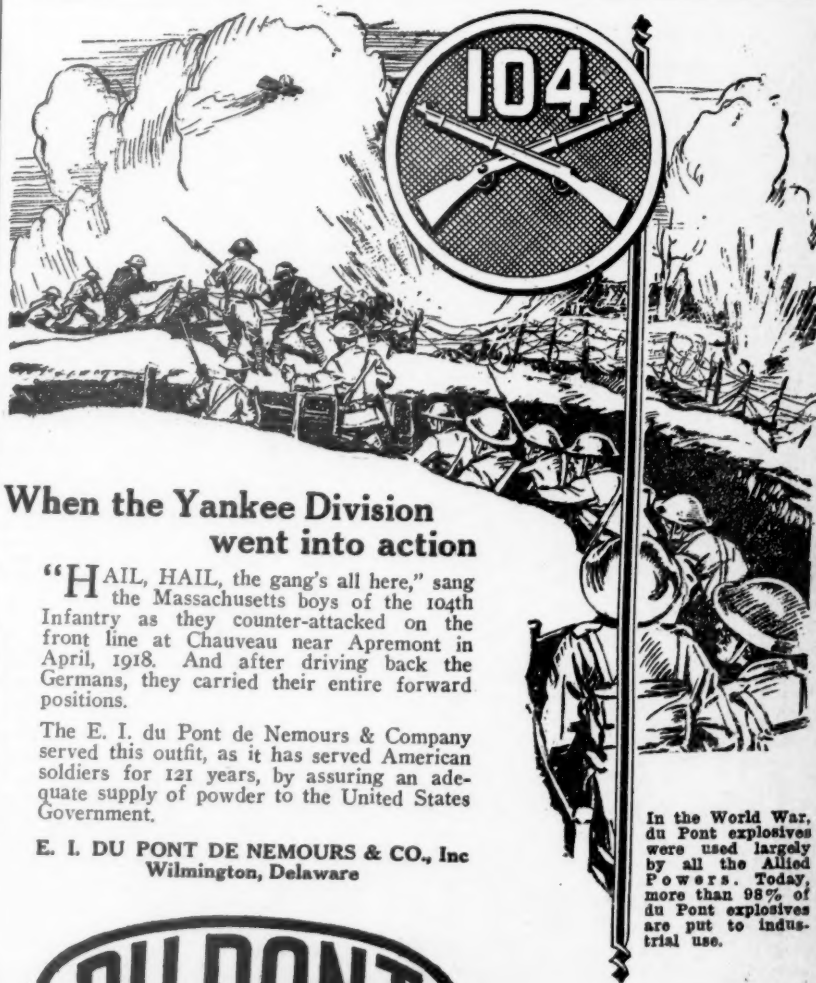

It is futile to envy the successful man, but it is wise to emulate him. There are, indeed, many of us who look upon his accumulation of money as the results of an overnight turn of fortune, regarding him as simply luckier than the rest of us.

This is unjust. The man who has earnestly succeeded in life, only reaps the reward of many years of devotion to an ideal—the ideal of thrift. He knew the proper way to spend and save, and regulated his life accordingly. While others made merry, he looked to the future and applied his full strength to the wheel.

The practice of thrift is a very positive virtue with its own great rewards. If we all earnestly and sanely bring this practice of thrift to our homes and hearts, we can reap one of the greatest rewards of thrift, and that is national strength and security, for as we all know, a nation is no stronger—morally, physically or financially, than the individuals who compose it.

Facilities of Officers' Mess, Fort Monroe

CIRCULAR 10, MAY 19, 1924, 3D C.A.

1. Owing to the fact that the Coast Artillery School at Fort Monroe is not in operation from June 1 to Sept. 1, the Officers' Mess at Fort Monroe will be able to accommodate officers or their families who may desire to spend a portion of the summer at Fort Monroe. The Commanding General, 3d Coast Artillery District, has offered the facilities of the Officers' Mess to such officers or their families as may desire to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain a vacation at a reasonable cost, and under conditions which are in many ways more advantageous than can be obtained at the usual summer resort.

2. Officers and their families desiring to remain for a month or more may become members of the mess by paying an initiation fee of $3 for each member of a family, thereby getting special rates, which would be approximately $2 a day per person. For periods less than a month it would be approximately $2.50 per day, depending on the length of the stay. There are also special rates for children.

3. The total accommodations available will be limited to about forty-five persons for any particular period, and no officer should go himself or send his family to Fort Monroe without first ascertaining whether the accommodations he desires will be available at the time wanted. This information can be obtained by direct application to the manager, Officers' Mess, Fort Monroe, Va.

COAST GUARD NOTES

Lt. Comdr. F. A. Zeuser has been designated as a technical adviser and representative of the Treasury Department with the American delegation to the Inter-American Committee on Electrical Communications, which will convene in Mexico City, Mexico, the latter part of this month. Lt. Comdr. Zeuser left Washington for Mexico City on May 21.

Much interest is being manifested by scientific men and others concerned in the pronounced scarcity of icebergs in the North Atlantic ice-patrol region this season, and the oceanographic observations now being made by the Tampa and Modoc will prove of inestimable value in the study being made of existing conditions. The following extract from the ice-patrol report of the Tampa for the cruise April 19-May 14 is of interest in this connection: "The weather experienced this cruise has been generally favorable. Some twelve per cent. of gales has been experienced, which is approximately the amount given on pilot chart as the mean for the season, but less than experienced in the Tampa's two previous seasons. Some twelve per cent. of fogs has also been experienced, which is markedly less than the thirty to forty-five per cent. given on pilot chart. Water temperature of the reservoir of the Grand Banks has been higher than usual at the season, and warm Atlantic water has been found prevailing closer to the Grand Banks than usual. The extraordinary absence of ice is probably a result of this unusual water temperature situation."

U.S.S. Tampa, C.G., Post, American Legion, has a supply of blanks on hand for the soldiers' bonus for New York state. The post advises that they will be pleased to furnish the application blanks to any Coast Guard personnel who were residents of New York state at the time of their entry into the World War. Requests for blanks should be made to Mr. A. A. Nixon, treasurer, Tampa Post, American Legion, 820 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn.

THE FINANCIAL DIGEST

This paper will be glad to furnish to its readers information on any brokerage house. A letter addressed to the Army and Navy Journal, 354 Fourth Avenue, New York City, will bring the information desired.

The statements made herein are based upon information and statistics which we consider reliable. But as not made upon our personal knowledge we do not guarantee their correctness.

By Raymond V. Sykes

Underlying railroad bonds, where interest and principal have been assumed, or guaranteed by a large system, very often offer the highest grade investment in this industry, and are to be preferred over the best grade bonds of the parent company, as a general rule. The security is higher because interest is deducted from earnings before income is available for interest payment on the guarantor's first mortgage issues. While this security may be redundant, there is another point to be considered, and that is this: because underlying bonds are generally small issues and not very well known they can be purchased to yield a higher return than can bonds of equal grade of well-known railroad systems.

The present list of bonds is of this character and each is of an unusually high grade. The bonds have been selected with another consideration in mind also. Only low interest bearing issues are included. The buyer has a much better chance of appreciation, for as the bond approaches maturity the price automatically approaches parity. The buyer is assured a substantial return so long as he holds these bonds and he is assured an appreciation of principal as time goes on. All of these bonds are "closed" issues, or practically so, that is, no more bonds will be sold, and the natural enhancement of real estate values and greater earning power as the country grows assures a greater equity with time.

Many of these bonds are secured by a lien on important links in the great transportation systems of the country, and to default interest would mean a disintegration of those systems. For this reason alone, if for no other, underlying bonds can be considered of a higher investment status than the first mortgage bonds of the systems paying the interest.

The Atlantic and Danville Railway first 4s, 1948, are outstanding in the amount of $5,925,000. The road is leased to the Southern Railway, which pays and guarantees the interest. The lease matures in 1949, or subsequent to the maturity of the bonds. The Chesapeake and Ohio, Richmond and Alleghany first 4s, 1989, are outstanding in the amount of $6,000,000. This is a divisional issue and forms an important part of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway system. This issue ranks equal to, or underlies, all C. and O. bonds except $29,858,000 first Consolidated 5s, 1939.

The Chicago and Erie Railroad first 5s, 1982, are outstanding in the amount of $12,000,000. The bonds are secured by a first lien on the main line from Marion, Ohio, to Hammond, Ind., and also by a first lien on 9,999 shares of Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad and 2,399 shares of the Belt Railroad of Chicago. Interest is guaranteed by the Erie Railroad.

The Columbus and Hocking Valley Railroad first 4s, 1948, are outstanding in the amount of $1,401,000. This issue is secured by a first lien on the main lines of the Hocking Valley Railroad from Columbus to Athens, Ohio, and branches. It underlies all other Hocking Valley bond issues. The Hocking Valley Railroad Company is owned by the Chesapeake and Ohio.

The Harlem River and Port Chester Railroad first 4s, 1954, are outstanding in the amount of $15,000,000. This issue is covered by a first lien on all property and franchises of the company, which consists of a road from the Harlem River to the junction with the main lines of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad at New Rochelle. The entire company is leased by the New Haven, which guarantees all taxes and interest on these bonds for ninety-nine years from 1873.

The Long Island Railroad general 4s, 1938, are outstanding in the amount of $3,000,000. These bonds follow $5,000,000 of Long Island Consolidated first 4s and 5s, 1931, and are secured by a second lien on 162 miles of lines radiating from Long Island City and upon terminal properties on Long Island. They underlie about $30,000,000 of other bonds. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company owns $33,982,550 out of $34,110,250 capital stock of the Long Island Railroad.

The Pacific Railroad of Missouri first 4s, 1938, are outstanding in the amount of $6,996,000. The bonds are secured by a first lien on 285 miles of line extending from St. Louis, Mo., to the Missouri-Kansas state line. The bonds underlie all other Missouri Pacific Railroad issues.

The South Bound Railroad first 5s, 1941, are outstanding in the amount of $2,033,000. The bonds are secured by a first lien on 141 miles of line from Savannah, Ga., to Columbia, S.C. The bonds have been assumed by the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company and underlie about $85,000,000 of Seaboard Air Line bonds.

THE CONGRESS

FIGHT FOR BATTLESHIPS

The first real test of strength between the supporters of a real navy and the economists came when Representative Britten proposed an amendment to the first section of the bill (H.R. 8687) which increased the appropriations to take care of the elevation of the guns of thirteen battleships. Mr. Britten asked for an increase of from $18,360,000 to $24,860,000 for these alterations under the first section of the bill.

The fight for the passage of the bill was opened by Representative Britten, who used a model of a battleship to give the members of the House an object lesson regarding blisters and the elevation of the guns. Representative Black of Texas spoke in opposition, comparing the naval appropriation of 1916 with those of this session. He agreed that no saving resulted from the Arms Conference. It seemed from the applause that the bill will pass.

(A list of Service measures, except personal bills, was printed on page 939 of our issue of May 24. Except for changes reported in news columns of this issue, the present status is shown in the following table:)

IMPROVING UNIFORMS OF NAVY ENLISTED MEN

EFFORTS that have been made in the Navy Department and in the Fleet to improve the uniform for enlisted men of the Navy and the difficulties which confront those in authority are described in a lecture recently delivered by Capt. Richard H. Leigh, Assistant Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, before the Naval War College. Capt. Leigh, who has given considerable thought to the subject, insists that a proper uniform is essential to the morale of the enlisted men of the Service. In the course of his lecture Capt. Leigh said in part:

"The uniform is a powerful influence on the bearing and conduct of the individual wearing it. It should inspire pride in the wearer and he should feel the sensation of being well dressed and becomingly dressed.

"The uniforms of the men in the Service since the World War have left much to be desired. It has apparently been necessary to get rid of war stock, and in doing so there had been served out to the men ill-fitting uniforms, in many cases trousers and overshirts not matching in color, and frequently the one being of cloth material and the other of serge.

"The bureau has been looking forward earnestly to the time when the supply of war material would be exhausted and there would only be available for issue to the men strictly regulation clothing of suitable material and color.

"The Bureau of Navigation forwarded to the Commander-in-Chief, U.S. Fleet, all of the hats together with the recommendation and information received from the Mayflower, with the request that they be given consideration and that a report be made. The bureau is awaiting this report before taking any further action."
